Section Two: The Executive's Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:

BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)

BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year

BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Note 1: The Open Budget Survey research process was carried out over a 12-month period and the final version of the Open Budget Questionnaires reflect decisions made after multiple rounds of discussions between Survey researchers, peer reviewers, and the International Budget Partnership (IBP) (in several countries these decisions also considered comments received from governments). When peer reviewers or governments agreed with the answers provided by researchers, they often provided no comment. Thus for many questions, the section in the questionnaire that should contain peer reviewer comments is left blank. However, if the government did not provide any comments to a question (because it did not dispute the answer), the section within the questionnaire that is meant to reflect government comments specifies the answer that the government agreed with (by default).

Since the IBP continued its discussions with the researchers even after receiving peer reviewer and government comments, for some questions these discussions resulted in a mutual decision to change the answers, even if the peer reviewers and governments agreed with the original answer provided by the researcher. Such changes may have happened as a result of:

1. A more consistent application of the Survey methodology;
2. New information identified by the researcher or by IBP that had a bearing on the answer for a particular question; or
3. Decisions made to ensure cross-country comparability of answers.

For more information on these changes for any question please write to info@internationalbudget.org.

The Executive's Budget Proposal
Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond
1. Does the executive's budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit. b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately. c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately. d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented. e. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation: Comment: Through conversations with public servants from the Ministry in charge of national budgets, the researchers gathered that there is an increasing effort to improve budgetary processes and mechanisms in Equatorial Guinea. These efforts are encouraged by and are requested to comply with specific requirements by the Central African Bank and the IMF, rather than by internal pressures to improve budget transparency and mechanisms of accountability to the population. Thus, even when there are technical capacity improvements, and some documents are produced for the purpose of sharing them with the IMF or BEAC, these do not make it to the public domain. Also, the fact that the Parliament is controlled by the President's political party (99% of Parliamentary seats), and the fact that Parliamentarians lack immunity for their official actions, means that executive's decisions, allocations, investments, lack of information, etc. are never questioned by the Parliament. In those instances where the single Parliamentarian of the opposition demands information from the Executive Branch, his requests are simply ignored. In recent times, the government has simply announced the enactment of a National Budget on national radio, as it did with the 2010 Budget on December 16, 2009. There is no indication of when this document will be published on paper, and most citizens who did not listen to the announcement on radio are unaware of the National Budget and of the process to follow in order to get a copy of the document. It is difficult to ascertain which documents, among those that are not available, are really produced and which ones are produced for internal purposes only. The researcher could identify only two levels of related documents that are produced at the early stages, before a budget is handed to parliamentarians for their approval. He recalled a preliminary/draft budget that each ministry presents to the Budget Ministry. From all the ministerial budgets, the Budget Ministry prepares a Draft National Budget. Assuming that the President does not change anything, this is the budget that is presented to Parliament and eventually enacted by the President.	d

There is little time for legislators to review and study the document. In addition, because the Parliament is dominated by members of the President's political party (99% of seats), there is never a serious discussion of questionable budgetary practices or allocations and expenditures. Attempts by the opposition legislator to challenge the executive are silenced by the overwhelming majority. Internally, there is no political will to improve budget transparency and accountability to the public. This preeminent control of the national institutions means that the overwhelming majority of public servants, including legislators and judges serve at the behest of the President and pledge the outmost loyalty directly to him. All institutions of the state become mere extensions of the President, thus obviating any serious effort to reform the national budgetary processes or national institutions, unless the President demands it. Peer Reviewer One Comment: Peer Reviewer Two Comment:	d

We want to restate that thought utterly insufficient (in their scope and intention) there are increasing efforts to improve technical capacities in the ministries in charge of budgets and investments. These efforts are required by regional and international bodies (the Central African Economic Bank, the African Development Bank, and the IMF, primarily).

Internally, there is no political will to improve budgetary transparency and accountability to the public. President Obiang serves as the head of state, head of government, first magistrate of the Nation, and head of his political party (the Democratic Party of Equatorial Guinea) which controls the Parliament with 99 of the 100 seats available. This preeminent control of the national institutions means that the overwhelming majority of public servants, including legislators and judges, serve at the behest of the President and pledge the outmost loyalty to him directly. All institutions of the state become mere extensions of the President, thus obviating any serious effort to reform the national budgetary processes or national institutions, unless the President demanded it.
