Section Two: The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:
BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)
BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year
BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Please mark your answer by placing the appropriate letter in the box to the right of the question. For all answers marked “not applicable/other,” please provide a brief explanation indicating either why the answer choices provided are not applicable or why another response would be more appropriate.
The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond

1. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit.
   b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately.
   c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

The criteria on what to consider as a publicly available document is satisfied (as per IBPQ Guide):

Publicly available budget documents are defined as those documents which any and all citizens might be able to obtain through a request to the public authority issuing the document.

The law on free access to information (BiH Official Gazette no. 28, 17 November, 2000) grants the right to access to information to BiH citizens, which has been helpful to persons wishing to obtain access to information.

All budget and budget related documents for the central level of government in Bosnia and Herzegovina, for previous years, can be accessed at: http://www.trezorbih.gov.ba/index.php?id=23&jezik=2&cat=22. It is a standard budget practice that all expenditures are classified by administrative unit.

2. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by functional classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function.
   d. No expenditures classified by function are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
The Budget Framework Paper (BFP) presents a Preliminary Draft of the BiH Institutions (central government level) Budget for 2008, together with provisional plans for the two following years, that is 2009 and 2010. It however does not contain expenditures broken down by functional classification. On the other hand BFP 2007-2009 did contain such a breakdown. See p. 75, http://www.trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/bos/DOB.pdf. We consider this to be a step back in the quality of the document and hence our answer.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” As explained in my comments in Note for Peer Reviewer Executive, the budget is still adopted only in overall economic categories (salaries, allowances, travel expenses, etc.) at the moment, but the amendments to the Budget Laws have been prepared in 2008 which will also formally introduce program budgeting (on which the functional classification is based) into the adopted laws in future period. However, in practice, information on programs is submitted to the Ministry of Finance and Treasury of BiH by the users already and is then sent to the Parliament as the supplementary information in the process of budget adoption (this was done in the process of 2008 budget adoption for the first time). Furthermore, MTEFs include the data on functional expenditures. It is true that in 2007-2009 BFP, functional classification was missing, but it is again available in 2008-2010 BFP.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: We still consider our original comment for selecting the answer “d” as an appropriate answer.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The answer is “a” but the reference document should be the 2007 Budget (http://trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/bos/Budzet_2007_bos.pdf) rather than 2006.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors maintain answer “a”: but the document mentioned by the reviewer is the Enacted Budget, which cannot be used to respond to any of questions 1-55.
4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

   a. Program-level data are presented for all expenditures.
   b. Program-level data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
   c. Program-level data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures.
   d. No program-level data are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I agree with the answer “c,” since the subject of the questionnaire in 2007 Budget. As explained under question 1, Budgets are not adopted in program format. However, in practice, information on programs is submitted to the Ministry of Finance and Treasury of BiH by the users already and is then sent to the Parliament as the supplementary information in the process of budget adoption (this was done in the process of 2008 budget adoption for the first time). 2007-2009 BFP (http://trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/bos/DOB.pdf) offered some information on programs, and the progress was notable in the mean time with program budgeting data sent to the Parliaments as supplementary information in the process of 2008 budget adoption, and the 2009-2011 BFP providing budget requests broken down by programs.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” Namely, although budgetary units (line ministries) are required to submit their budget request broken down by programs, and these information are used to come up with budget ceilings by MoF, as well as they are presented to Budget Committee of the Parliament as an Annex to the Budget Proposal, programmatic information ARE NOT publicly available, and there are no such information presented in the BFP (however, 2008-10 BFP does mentions that budget ceilings are derived from programmatic proposals at page 37).

Researcher Response: We agree with PR1 comments. For the 2007-09 BFP no such process of presenting program information took place. So if we decide to use the 2008-10 document answer “c” is more appropriate. On the other hand if we stick to the 2007-09 BFP answer “d” remains as more appropriate.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d.”

The document mentioned by the researcher is the pre-budge statement for the year 2008 (released on July 6, 2007) and therefore can only be used to answer questions 71-73.

The document mentioned by the reviewer is the pre-budget statement for the year 2007 (released on June 30, 2006). The executive’s budget proposal, released in November 2007, is not available to the public; therefore the most appropriate answer to this question is “d.”

5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
   b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Researcher’s Response: I choose my answer “b.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors maintain answer “b”: the document mentioned by the researcher is the pre-budget statement for the year 2008 (released on July 6, 2007) and therefore can only be used to answer questions 71-73. The document mentioned by the reviewer is the pre-budget statement for the year 2007 (released on June 30, 2006). The correct reference is the executive’s budget proposal 2007 Budget Proposal, Institutions of BiH, adopted by the Council of Ministers on February 17, 2007.
6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).

   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.

   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.

   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.

   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be somewhere between “b” and “c.” The above mentioned document states the outstanding debt as of May 1, 2007 and it gives information on debt records at end of each of previous 5 years, as well as debt projections for the next three years. In addition, Executive Budget only indicates the debt repayment for the year, without giving breakdown of principal vs. interest repayment. However, although debt is State responsibility, since debt repayment is really done by entities (transferring money to entities), while state only keeps record, I’m not sure to which extent this question is applicable.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
12. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present interest payments on the debt for the budget year?

   a. Yes, interest payments on the debt are presented.
   b. No, interest payments on the debt are not presented.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The mentioned 2006 Budget, as well as 2007 Budget do not provide breakdown between principal and interest payment. They only provide breakdown by creditor. However, 2008-10 BFP does contain debt repayment projections for the three years (including 2008 as budget year) for principal and interest. The totals do not match 2008 Budget document figure, though http://www.trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/hr/dob_2008-2010_hrv.pdf (page 75) The same is true for 2007-09 BFP – including 2007 as budget year. The totals do not match 2007 Budget document figure, though http://www.trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/bos/DOB.pdf (page 61)

Researcher Response: The total debt servicing payments are presented in the above mentioned document with no breakdown between interest and principal repayment.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

17. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year that shows how policy proposals in the budget, as distinct from existing policies, affect revenues?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of policy proposals on revenues is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policy proposals on revenues, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on the impact of policy proposals on revenues is not presented.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The reference document is 2007-2009 BFP (http://trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/bos/DOB.pdf) in which in chapter 3 some effects of indirect taxation policy is discussed, but not is sufficient detail.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d”: the document mentioned by peer reviewer one is the Pre-budget Statements for the year 2007 and therefore shall be referred to when answering questions 71-73.

Estimates for Years Prior to the Budget Year

18. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit for BY-1.
   b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit for BY-1, but some small units are not shown separately.
   c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit for BY-1, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented for BY-1.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e” (see comments under question #2), since in the process of preparation of 2007 budget this was not done. The budget is still adopted only in overall economic categories (salaries, allowances, travel expenses, etc.) at the moment, but the amendments to the Budget Laws have been prepared in 2008 which will also formally introduce program budgeting (on which the functional classification is based) into the adopted laws in future period. However, in practice, information on programs is submitted to the Ministry of Finance and Treasury of BiH by the users already and is then sent to the Parliament as the supplementary information in the process of budget adoption (this was done in the process of 2008 budget adoption for the first time). Furthermore, MTEFs include the data on functional expenditures. For all of these, data for BY-1 is also presented.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
20. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by economic classification?

Comment:
We do not understand what is meant by this question. If the question is meant to refer to expected results that are associated with planned expenditures than our answer would be “d.”

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “e.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” For example, in the 2007 budget, actual execution for 2005 is given, as well as for the first six months in 2006.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” Although ministries are requested to state outcomes for their programs in the budget requests that serve as basis for budget ceilings and BFP, these information are not part of either BFP or Executive Budget and therefore are not publicly available.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
26. Are the expenditure estimates for the years prior to the budget year adjusted, as needed, to be comparable with the budget-year estimates in terms of classification and presentation?

    a. Yes, prior-year data are always adjusted to be comparable to the budget year data.
    b. Yes, in most cases, prior-year data are adjusted to be comparable.
    c. Yes, in some cases, prior-year data are adjusted to be comparable, but significant deviations between prior-year and budget-year classifications exist.
    d. No, prior-year data are not adjusted to be comparable, or no prior-year estimates

Comment:
Again it is not clear what is meant by this question.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “e.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” For example, there was an adjustment of eliminating one category of expenditure (called “Special Purpose Programs”) which was eliminated, and consequently, in the budget for the first year after this elimination, previous year’s budget was presented both in the original form with “Special Purpose Programs’ and in the adjusted form to be comparable to the new budget.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: If the question relates to the macroeconomic adjustments, the appropriate answer should be “d.” If the question refers to adjustments in classification, then appropriate answer is most likely as there were no changes in the classification in the previous years.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
27. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1)?

   a. All tax revenues are identified individually for BY-1.
   b. Tax revenues amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenue for BY-1 are identified individually.
   c. Tax revenues amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues for BY-1 are identified individually.

In the executive budget proposal at least six months of actual year are taken into consideration when coming up with the budget estimates

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” In enacted budget, there are columns on both adopted budget from the previous year and for the semi-annual execution of the previous year’s budget. Reference document is 2007 Budget (http://trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/bos/Budzet_2007_bos.pdf).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: In a case of Budget Framework Paper (that has been cited in the previous answers as supporting budget document) for the BY-1 the revised estimates are given based on the 3 months actual data. If we take this into account, more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” http://www.trezorbih.gov.ba/publications/hr/dob_2008-2010_hrv.pdf (page 21) However, for the Executive Budget, answer “d” applies.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” in light of peer reviewer two’s comment.

The document mentioned by peer reviewer one is the Enacted Budget for the BY2007, while the document mentioned by peer reviewer two is the Pre-budget Statement for the BY2008 (and therefore not a supporting documents to the executive’s budget proposal). Neither of these documents can be used to support the answer to this question.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “e.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The situation is as follows: in the budget of the state level in BiH (called BiH Institutions), on the revenue side, there are revenues from indirect taxes. Direct taxes are in the budgets of lower-levels. When it comes to question 45, I am not sure what is meant by “tax expenditure” – if you mean expenditures finances by tax revenues, appropriate answer is B and if you mean the overview of what is the expense of tax collection/administration, that the answer is probably “c” (as mentioned above, tax administration for direct taxes is not at the state level, while tax administration for indirect taxes is on the state level (through Indirect Tax Authority). The overall budget presents all expenditure of the Indirect Tax Authority in the same detail as for other users (expenditure by economic category).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The State Government has no responsibility over direct taxes. They are regulated by sub-national (entity level) government. State government is financed by indirect taxes and non-tax revenues. There are only tax exemptions from indirect taxes payment (but these firms are not even considered tax payers), but no tax deductions for this taxes. However, in general, “tax expenditure” concept is not used in BiH.

Researcher Response: The correct answer is “d” as no such information is presented in the executive proposal. This requires a sophisticated policy analysis and our government is not quite prone to that.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” in light of researcher’s comment.
46. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify all earmarked revenues?

a. All earmarked revenues are identified individually.
b. At least two-thirds of, but not all, earmarked revenues are identified individually.
c. Less than two-thirds of earmarked revenues are identified individually.
d. No earmarked revenues are identified individually.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The situation is as follows: budget users at the state level do not have classic earmarked revenues – all revenues go through the Single Account of Treasury and are planned as regular revenues of the Budget, not directly connected to the specific kind of expenditure. A few exemptions are in regards to the regulatory agencies (such as Regulatory Agency for Communications), for which those revenues are identified individually. However, their revenues are planned on the revenue side of the budget, and expenditure on the expenditure side of the budget. However, their expenditure is not directly conditioned by receiving the revenues. Therefore, answer is “a.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: All earmarked grants are identified individually. All own revenues (revenues from ministries’ activities) are identified by institution that has collected them, but these institutions are not entitled to keep these revenues. As for the special tax and fees revenues, there are only 3 institutions collecting them and they are entitled to keep these revenues. The breakdown of which agency has collected which and how much of revenue is given in Executive Budget. However, from the Executive Budget document itself it is not clear here who would be (if anyone specifically) beneficiary.
47. What percentage of expenditure in the budget year is dedicated to spending on secret items relating to, for instance, national security and military intelligence?

a. One percent or less of expenditure is dedicated to secret items.
b. Three percent or less, but more than one percent, of expenditure is dedicated to secret items.
c. Eight percent or less, but more than three percent, of expenditure is dedicated to secret items.
d. More than eight percent of expenditure is dedicated to secret items, or the percentage is not available to the public.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

These items are not regarded as secret and expenditures directed to the national intelligence agency is publicly available (i.e. they can be found in the official budget documents cited earlier).

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Both explanations of the Budget which is a part of the Budget proposal, as well as the MTEFs give some information on connection between expenditure and policy goals.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I chose my answer because even if we state Executive’s Budget Proposal as the source, no information explaining the link between the government policy objectives and budget is available. Therefore the correct answer is “d.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
49. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation explain how the proposed budget is linked to government’s stated policy goals for a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

50. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present non-financial data, such as the number of beneficiaries, for expenditure programs?

a. Non-financial data are presented for all programs.
b. Non-financial data are presented for programs representing at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
c. Non-financial data are presented for programs representing less than two-thirds of expenditure.
d. No non-financial data are presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I agree that the answer is “d.”
Bosnia and Herzegovina has been undergoing a budget reform, in which program budgeting is being introduced. In this sense, a budget user (for example Ministry of Safety) divides its budget into programs, defined by activities (e.g. one program of the Ministry of Safety would be Fighting Human Trafficking, while another program would be e.g. Border Supervision). Now, the budget is still adopted only in overall economic categories (salaries, allowances, travel expenses…) at the moment, but the amendments to the Budget Laws have been prepared in 2008 which will also formally introduce program budgeting into the adopted laws in future period. However, in practice, information on programs is submitted to the Ministry of Finance and Treasury of BiH by the users already and is then sent to the Parliament as the supplementary information in the process of budget adoption (this was done in the process of 2008 budget adoption for the first time). Since this questionnaire refers to 2007 budget, answer here is “d.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

51. Are the non-financial data presented useful for assessing how an expenditure program is performing?

a. The non-financial data are very useful for assessing program performance.
b. The non-financial data are mostly useful for assessing program performance.
c. The non-financial data are somewhat useful for assessing program performance.
d. No non-financial data are provided or they are not useful for assessing program performance.

Please note that the questions in this section ask about information that is generally available to the public. The information need not be included in the executive’s budget proposal or supporting documents, but may be found in other documents issued by the executive.
56. Does the executive make available to the public a description of the tax rate or fee schedule for all revenue sources, including commercial projects involving the private sector?

a. Yes, extensive information on tax rates, fees, royalties and other revenue sources is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the rates and fees for major revenue sources, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information is not presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” The Budget itself does not include this information, but the ministries and institutions in charge of administrations of the taxes, fees, royalties and other revenue sources provided all information (e.g. http://www.uino.gov.ba/b/Porezi/PDV/), which is publicly available.

Peer Reviewer Comment: Only BFP (considered as supporting document here, but it is actually Pre-Budget), but not Executive Budget, contains some information. With respect to indirect taxes a number of different information and analysis is available at http://www.oma.uino.gov.ba or http://www.uino.gov.ba

Researcher Response: We agree with the comments of both peer reviewers. We were originally in a dilemma between answers “b” and “c.” Indeed there is a wealth of information available however we are not convinced that answer “a” would offer an accurate portrayal. We would however accept answer “b.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
57. Does the executive make available to the public an analysis of the distribution of the tax burden?

   a. Yes, a detailed analysis of the distribution of the tax burden is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, an analysis is presented, highlighting key aspects of the distribution, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some analysis is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No analysis on the distribution of the tax burden is presented.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

64. Are citizens able in practice to obtain financial information on expenditures for individual programs in a format that is more highly disaggregated than that which appears in the executive’s budget proposal if they request it (for example, from a ministry or agency)?

   a. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for all programs except those considered related to national security or military intelligence.
   b. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for programs representing at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
   c. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for programs representing less than two-thirds of expenditures.
   d. In practice, no highly disaggregated expenditure information is available.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
It depends. Usually no program specific financial data (aggregate or disaggregate) is readily available in the budget or its supporting documents. Such information could potentially be obtained following a specific written request, that is if the ministry/agency itself keeps track of program specific financial data. However, this is rarely the case. So is answer "e" an appropriate answer to the question?
Peer Reviewer One Comment: I think that the confusion here related to the term “program.” Bosnia and Herzegovina has been undergoing a budget reform, in which program budgeting is being introduced. In this sense, a budget user (for example Ministry of Safety) divides its budget into programs, defined by activities (e.g. one program of the Ministry of Safety would be Fighting Human Trafficking, while another program would be e.g. Border Supervision). Now, the budget is still adopted only in overall economic categories (salaries, allowances, travel expenses…) at the moment, but the amendments to the Budget Laws have been prepared in 2008 which will also formally introduce program budgeting into the adopted laws in future period. However, in practice, information on programs is submitted to the Ministry of Finance and Treasury of BiH by the users already and is then sent to the Parliament as the supplementary information in the process of budget adoption (this was done in the process of 2008 budget adoption for the first time). In line with the Law on Access to Information (http://vijeceministara.gov.ba/bosanski/zakon_o_slobodi_pristupa_informacijama_b.pdf), citizens can demand additional detail information on budget directly from budget users, and from Ministry of Finance and Treasury (for collective information on all users).

Now, if this question refers to “program budgeting” as defined above (and as understood in BiH terms), correct answer here would probably be “d” since for 2007 budget, program budget data was not submitted to Parliament in the process of adoption of 2007 budget, but the Ministry of Finance and Treasury had requested the program budget data from users at that time as well (but it was not sent to the Parliament in the process of 2007 Budget adoption, since the quality of budget requests were not at the desired level, since the concept of program budgeting just started being introduced at that time), so some users could have provided the more information on their budgets in program format at that time.

If this question refers to more detailed data in general, and not specifically to program budgeting as defined above, the correct question is “b” (the legal obligation is in place, but in practice, some budget users probably would not respond to citizens’ request).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: As stated earlier Executive budget or BFP DO NOT contain ANY PROGRAMMATIC information. However, all agencies are requested to produce their budget submissions by programs containing specific objectives and performance information. Therefore, this information DOES exist in agencies and MoF. However, since public is not aware of their existence it has not yet happened that someone has actually requested information. This is due to fact that program budget is an initiative started by MoF, but since it has not been officially adopted by Cabinet, this information is not contained in any official budget document. A more appropriate response to this question IN PRACTICE would be “d.”

Researcher Response: We would add to the comments that some institutions would not be able to readily respond to citizens requests even if they wanted to due to either negligence or poor record keeping practices. We agree on answer “d.”
65. Are citizens able in practice to obtain non-financial information related to expenditures (for example, number of beneficiaries, number of persons employed by the program, etc.) for individual programs in a format that is more highly disaggregated than that which appears in the executive’s budget proposal if they request it from a ministry or agency?

- a. In practice, highly disaggregated non-financial information is available to the public for all programs except those considered related to national security or military intelligence.
- b. In practice, highly disaggregated non-financial information is available to the public for programs representing at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
- c. In practice, highly disaggregated non-financial information is available to the public for programs representing less than two-thirds of expenditures.
- d. In practice, no highly disaggregated non-financial expenditure information is available.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:

It depends on what kind of non-financial information one is talking about. Number of persons employed by specific ministries/agencies is usually available. However, this information is not broken down by specific programs. In general, non-financial information can be made available after a request in writing has been submitted to relevant institution. However, often times ministries/agencies themselves do not keep track of non-financial information especially when it comes to programme beneficiaries and programme outcomes/results. In light of the above I ask you what you would consider as an appropriate answer to this question or should answer "e." remain.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Similarly to what I commented above for question 64, if this question refers to “program budgeting” as defined above (and as understood in BiH terms), correct answer here would probably be “c.” If this question refers to more detailed data in general, and not specifically to program budgeting as defined above, the correct response is “b.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The same as for question 64 applies.

Researcher Response: See earlier comment. We concur with IBP’s choice.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries, in light of peer reviewer two comments under Q.64 and researcher’s comment.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Ministry of Finance prepared budget in time, and the Council of Ministers usually adopts the budget broadly in time. Most of the delay occurs at the Parliamentary stage.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: Again, we were here in a dilemma between answers “b” and “c.” We do not have a strong preference as to either of the two answers.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
69. Does the executive hold consultations with members of the legislature as part of its process of determining budget priorities?

- a. Yes, the executive holds extensive consultations with a wide range of legislators.
- b. Yes, the executive holds consultations with a range of legislators, but some key members are excluded.
- c. Yes, the executive holds very limited consultations, involving only a few members of the legislature.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: If by this you mean whether the executive holds the consultations with the Parliament during the process of budget adoption, than the answer is “a.” However, if you mean whether the legislature is consulted in the process before drafting of the budget, then the answer is “d” there are no official consultations with the Parliament, but the Parliament can provide its comments on budget priorities, since they are outlined in the Medium Term Budget Framework, which is a pre-draft of the budget and which is published on the Ministry of Finance’s website in July each year.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: We agree with the PR1 comments. However, extensive consultations indeed take place due to the setup of BiH Parliament as no major spending initiative can be introduced at the level of BiH Parliament without the prior consent of Parliamentarians representing the interests of both entities, namely Republika Srpska and Federation. We’ll leave it to IBP to decide what an appropriate answer is.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries, and in light of the peer reviewer’s comment.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” The executive does not hold official consultations with the public about the budget. However, in the process of drafting sectoral strategies and other documents which are reflected in the budget priorities, budget users usually hold public discussions.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: As far as I know they do not involve anyone. Budget preparation is very internal process. A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Comment:
Pre-budget statement or Budget Framework document is to be prepared by Ministry of Finance and Treasury as a Draft Budget; subject of Government's approval (see the Law on financing of BiH Institutions)

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: BFP is addressed as Preliminary Draft Budget, and not Draft Budget. It is Pre-Budget Statement, and it is issued usually in early July. This was probably mistyped.
“Draft Budget” as mentioned by the researcher is something else – it is first version of budget that is prepared by MoF and sent to Cabinet by the end of September.

72. Does the pre-budget statement describe the government’s macroeconomic and fiscal framework?

   a. Yes, an extensive explanation of the government’s fiscal and macroeconomic policy is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, an explanation is presented, highlighting key aspects of the fiscal and macroeconomic framework, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some explanation is presented, but it lacks important details.

73. Does the pre-budget statement describe the government’s policies and priorities that will guide the development of detailed estimates for the upcoming budget?

a. Yes, an extensive explanation of the government’s budget policies and priorities is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, an explanation is presented, highlighting key aspects of the government’s budget policies and priorities, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some explanation is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, an explanation is not presented, or the executive does not release to the public a pre-budget statement.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Additional comment: within the budget reform BiH is undergoing (see my comments in Note for Peer Reviewers), these kinds of public hearings are envisaged to take place. However, currently, some hearings are already held for some sectors – e.g. defense and safety (they are not public yet).

79. Is the legislature (or the appropriate legislative committee or members of the legislature) given full information for the budget year on the spending of all secret items relating to, for instance, national security and military intelligence?

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” While MTEF and Budgets contain some additional information on sub-department totals or major programs, execution report do not.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: This is true in a case department means budgetary unit or agency. In-year reports follow budget structure and include information by agency plus so called “programs of special purpose” (which are not real programs, but more of a transfer or in some cases earmarked activities) in cases of some ministries. Information by economic categories is also given.

- executed external debt servicing reported by type of creditor and structure of debt obligation (principal, interest, associated expenses)
- comparative data on planed and executed external debt payments, with explanation.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Together with the budget execution reports, quarterly reports give information on actual borrowing.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: In-year-reports I have seen so far had no information on actual borrowing except on grants. A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.”

Researcher Response: I chose my answer “c” because the information regarding external debt is prepared at least once a year but as often as CoM or Parliament will find the need for such information. Therefore we remain with the original choice of answer.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” in light of peer reviewer two’s comment and researcher’s comment: information is prepared at least once a year, but this does not imply that it is regularly included in the in-year reports. To maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries, “d” is the most appropriate answer.
90. Do in-year reports released to the public on actual borrowing present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, and currency denomination of the debt) for the budget year?

a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented.
b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented, or such in-year reports on borrowing are not released.

   b. Yes, the mid-year review includes a discussion of the economy, but it lacks some details.
   c. Yes, the mid-year review includes a discussion of the economy, but it lacks important details.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d,” which is in line with the Tables 1 and 2 and this entire questionnaire. This only happens in the case of budget rebalances (which only happened once at the state level and which usually happen few months before the end of the year), but no Mid Year Reports are prepared systematically each year, as defined in Guide for the Open Budget Questionnaire.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: There is no Mid-Year review as such. What is here perhaps mistaken for mid-year review are semi-annual budget execution reports. As Mid Year Review qualifies something called “Budget Rebalans” (supplementary budget) which is done very rarely (only twice in the last 6 years) and not necessarily after 6 months of budget implementation. More appropriate answer here is “d.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” Under Law on Financing, in extraordinary circumstances, budget appropriations under the budget ceiling adopted by the Parliament can be shifted between the users (with the exception of the following budget users: Parliament, Supreme Audit Institution, Supreme Constitutional Court and all of the judiciary), with the approval of Council of Ministers (and not the Parliament). However, this happens very rarely in practice. Real budget rebalances need to be approved by the Parliament.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: In response to PR1 comment, shifting of funds between budget users with the noted exceptions can happen on the basis of a decision by the Council of Ministers, but has never happened. Any such decisions usually lead to a budget rebalance which was the rationale for selecting answer “a.” We therefore stick to the original choice.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a,” consistent with peer reviewer and researcher’s comments.
97. During the past year, have there been credible reported instances in which the procurement of goods and services has not followed an open and competitive process in practice?

a. There were no credible reported instances of procurement failing to follow an open and competitive process in practice during the past year.
b. The procurement of goods and services frequently followed an open and competitive process in practice, but there were some reported instances of irregularities.
c. The procurement of goods and service followed an open and competitive process in many instances, but there were significant reported examples of irregularities.
d. No, the procurement process was not open and competitive in practice.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Very strict Law on Public Procurement (http://www.nabavke.com/zakonbih.pdf). There are some instances of the procurements not following an open and competitive process in practice, but these are not too often.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

100. When does the legislature approve the expenditure of contingency funds or other funds for which no specific purpose was identified in the budget?

a. Expenditures are approved before the funds are expended, or contingency funds or other funds with no specific purposes are not included in the budget.
b. Expenditures are approved after the funds are expended, but before the end of the fiscal year.
c. Expenditures are approved after the end of the fiscal year, for example in the next budget.
d. Such expenditure takes place without legislative approval.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e” or “d.” In budget of BiH Institutions, there are Current Reserves, which cannot constitute more than 3% of the total budget excluding the foreign debt servicing. Reserve can be used for urgent expenditures, financing of the legal contingencies and grants for the non-profit organizations. Current reserves of up to 3% of the Budget (usually are lower than 3%) are therefore adopted by the Parliament within the Budget within different categories (e.g. 2007 budget had 6 kinds of reserves – for legal contingencies, capital investment, new budget users, EU negotiations, financing of reconstruction of war-torn Srebrenica and other reserve, within which grants to non-profit organizations are given. During the year, Council of Ministers needs to approve these spending (not the Parliament).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: We interpreted the Law differently. Parliament approves the contingency reserve of no more than 3% of the total revenues, excluding grants, and it is stipulated by the law what these expenditures can be used for in specific but relatively broad categories.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” in light of researcher’s comment’s and to maintain consistency of responses across countries.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Under the Law on Financing, each budget user is obliged to give overview of steps it has taken to address audit recommendations or findings that indicate a need for remedial action, which Ministry of Finance then needs to be covered in budget execution report. However, in practice, this does not happen for all users. Answer “c” is appropriate.
