For all answers marked “not applicable/other,” please provide a brief explanation indicating either why the answer choices provided are not applicable or why another response would be more appropriate.
The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond

1. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit.
   b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately.
   c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
In both documents we can find a budget classification by administrative units but some autonomous enterprises aren’t included and small units are not shown separately.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was "b."

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I conducted interviews with officials from the office of Transparency in the Presidential House, the Ministry of Finance and the High Court of Auditors to research the public availability of budget documents for this questionnaire. I also met and interviewed deputies from opposition political parties and journalists who cover the legislature.

The executive’s budget proposal for 2007 was not available to the public when it was tabled in the legislature in September 2006. The budget was not available until after the parliament approved on December 21, 2006. During most of this period of legislative consideration, it was only available to members of the ruling party.

With respect to formulation of the executive’s budget proposal, the various heads of programs, heads of projects, ministries, state secretaries and decentralized institutions, all send their budget requests to the Ministry of Finance, which makes a condensed document. This document is approved by the Economic Cabinet, and then sent to the parliament.

While it is under consideration in the parliament, and until the day when it is approved by the parliament, the public does not have access to it altogether.

Subsequently, once the budget was approved, it was made available upon written request to the Unidad de Transparencia of the Ministry of Finance, where it was possible to obtain a CD with information on the BY2007 proposal. The proposal was also posted on the web: http://190.4.23.10/portal_prod/data/2007/dgp/Presupuesto%20Aprobado%202007/principal.html However, the proposal was not available to the public until after its approval by the legislature on December 21, 2006.

An official at the Oficina de Transparencia at the Ministry of Finance noted in an interview that before it is approved by the parliament, the executive’s budget proposal is ‘reserved information.’ The office provided me with budget information for BY2007 only because at the time of the interview, the budget had already been approved by the parliament. Furthermore, although I requested the executive’s budget proposal for BY2008, it was not given to me, because it was considered ‘reserved information’ as it had not yet been approved by the parliament.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: As noted by the peer reviewer, the executive’s budget proposal for 2007 was not available to the public between the presentation of the document to the parliament and its approval.

The purpose of Questions 1-55 in the questionnaire are to evaluate that information which is contained in the executive’s budget proposal and supporting documents during the time they are under debate in the legislature. This set of documents is sometimes known as the country’s ‘annual consolidated budget presentation.’

The study’s definition of a ‘public available document’ requires that the document in question may only be considered “available to the public” if it is possible for any and all persons in the country who are interested in obtaining a copy may receive it upon request at little or no cost. Since the proposal was not available between the time when it is submitted to the parliament (in the case of Honduras, September 2006) and its approval (December 2006), Questions 1-55 have been marked "d" to reflect the lack of publicly available information. (Those questions with only three possible response options have been marked "b" to reflect this lack of public information.)
2. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by functional classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function.
   d. No expenditures classified by function are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was "a."

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be "c". Even though the government may show this information only for ERP (Poverty Reduction Strategy funds), the reference leads to the enacted budget and not the executive budget. Currently, it can be found the executive’s budget 2008 which presents the classification by function, but not the executive’s budget 2007.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, "d"

Peer Reviewer Two cites documents for BY2008. However, these documents were issued after the cut-off date of September 28, 2007, for all research in all countries. No documents or actions after this date may be taken into account for the purpose of responding to the questionnaire in any country after this date.

In the budget for the year 2007, expenditures were presented by functional classification, here: Sector Publico- Programa de Inversion Publica Sectoral por sector, subsector e institucion- Gestion 2007 and Programa de Inversion publica por sector y subsector plurianual- Gestión 2007-2010.

3. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by economic classification?

| a. | All expenditures are classified by economic classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards. |
| b. | All expenditures are classified by economic classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards. |
| c. | Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by economic classification. |
| d. | No expenditures classified by economic classification are presented. |
| e. | Not applicable/other (please comment). |

4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

| a. | Program-level data are presented for all expenditures. |
| b. | Program-level data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures. |
| c. | Program-level data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures. |
| d. | No program-level data are presented. |

5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b.” The executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents were available only after the budget was approved, therefore they cannot be considered available to the public.
6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.

7. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of tax revenue amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues are identified individually.
   d. No sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Comment: All sources of tax revenue are incorporated in the budget year and in the multiannual budget, some differences are identified in the estimates of income, specially due to underestimation or changes in various sectors (forestal, mining and others resources).
8. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of non-tax revenue (such as grants, property income, and sales of goods and services) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of non-tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of non-tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, non-tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of non-tax revenues amounting to less than two-thirds of all non-tax

In the last years especially after the incorporation of Honduras as Highly Indebt Poor Countries HIPC, information about internal and external debt is included in different document with a high level of disaggregation. This information is provided also by public as private organizations such as Central Bank, Foro Social de la Deuda Externa de Honduras FOSDEH.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was "a."

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

 Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Even though the government may show this information, the reference leads to the enacted budget and not the executive budget. However, it seems that this information can be found in the “proposal” (at least in 2008) http://www.sefin.gob.hn/portal_prod/data/2008/DGP/AnteproyectoPresupuesto2008/DOCUMENTO%20PRESUPUESTO%202008.pdf where some information is presented.

The executive’s budget proposal for BY2008 mentioned by the second peer reviewer cannot be used, because they were available after the cut-off date (September 28, 2007). Only some information is provided in the budget proposal for the year 2007 – Presupuesto Plurianual 2007-2010.

12. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present interest payments on the debt for the budget year?

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b.”

The executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents were available only after the budget was approved, therefore they cannot be considered available to the public.

Moreover, no information was found in the documents that were part of the budget proposal for the year 2007. The purpose of Questions 1-55 is to evaluate a country’s annual consolidated budget presentation, and central bank reports cannot be considered as part of this presentation.
13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year?

   a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented.
   b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
Until 2003 most of the information about debt have been considered RESERVED but in the last years most information is available but still in 2007 some details keeps the label of reserved. We expected that in 2008 public will have more access because in January begin the application of the Access to Public Information Law.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Some information can be found in the proposal, but not relevant information such as interest rate, maturity profile of the debt, etc.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer ”d.”
The executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents for BY2008 cannot be used because they were available after the cut-off date (September 28, 2007).
Some information is provided in the budget proposal for the year 2007 – Presupuesto Plurianual 2007-2010.

14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based?

   a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly.
   b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
The information about macroeconomic forecast is available in different reports published and distributed by Central Bank and other public institutions and when the budget project is presented to Legislative the relation is established but only circulate as internal reports in the Secretary of Finances and Central Bank.

Some organizations as FOSDEH, Honduran Council of Private Enterprises report the disvinculation between macroeconomics forecast and budgets projects.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer "d."
The documents cited by the researcher cannot be used because they are not part of the executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents. Some information is provided in the budget proposal for the year 2007 – Political Presupuestaria 2007, p. 10, Supuestos Macroeconomicos.

However, given that the executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents were available only after the budget was approved, they cannot be considered available to the public. Therefore the most appropriate answer to this question is "d."
15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
In general this is not an important problem in Honduras, but since 2006 700 millions of lempiras destined to Poverty Reduction Strategy are kept as expenditure arrears because of the slow process of approval and release of these funds for the municipalities.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “e.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be "d" Even though the government claims to be using the 700 millions of lempiras from previous years, it is not clear in the budget or why the total amount is not 1400 millions or if in future exercises there is going to be 700 millions of arrears.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer "d." The executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents were available only after the budget was approved, therefore they cannot be considered available to the public.
42. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information on contingent liabilities (such as government loan guarantees)?

- a. Yes, extensive information on contingent liabilities is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
- b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting key contingent liabilities, but some details are excluded.
- c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

Comment:
As have been commented only in 2006 the release was made with more anticipation, in fact the budget must be tabled in September of each year but in practice the budget is tabled in December.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response was “a.” The proposal is generally sent in September.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors choose answer, “a.” By law the Executive must present the budget proposal to the Parliament within the first 15 (fifteen) days of September. And the Parliament must approve it before the start of the fiscal year (December). If this does not happen, the budget of the previous year remains in place (Constitución de la Republica de Honduras 1982 Chapter 6, Articles 367-368).

In the case of the budget proposal for the BY 2007, the document was presented to the Parliament in time (September 2006), in line with the legal requirements. However, as for the budget 2008, the proposal was not presented until after the beginning of the BY 2008 and was approved only in April 2008.

For the purposes of this analysis, which focuses on information released no later than September 28, 2007, the budget year in consideration is the 2007, therefore "a" is the most appropriate answer.
75. Does a legislative committee (or committees) hold public hearings on the macroeconomic and fiscal framework presented in the budget in which testimony from the executive branch and the public is heard?

   a. Yes, public hearings are held on the macroeconomic and fiscal framework in which testimony is heard from the executive branch and a wide range of constituencies.

   b. Yes, hearings are held in which testimony is heard from the executive branch and some constituencies.

   c. Yes, hearings are held in which testimony from the executive branch is heard, but no testimony from the public is heard.

So we reviewed the website and there is a 2007 Audit Report available on the website. We also consulted the Official Transparency in the Ministry of Finance and stated that he did not have that audit and that each institution makes its own audit.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, "c" to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

The Audit Report for the BY 2007 was actually released much earlier than those of the previous years: this suggesting an improvement in the practice. However it cannot be included in the OBI research, as it was released in April 2008, which is many months after the cutoff date of September 28, 2007. Therefore we keep our answer, on the basis of the 2005 Audit Report indicated by the researcher.
