Section Two: The Executive's Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:

BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)

BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year

BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Please mark your answer by placing the appropriate letter in the box to the right of the question. For all answers marked "not applicable/other," please provide a brief explanation indicating either why the answer choices provided are not applicable or why another response would be more appropriate.

The Executive's Budget Proposal
Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond
1. Does the executive's budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)? <ol style="list-style-type: none"> a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit. b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately. c. 3. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by economic classification? a. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards. b. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards. c. 5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)? a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented. b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented. c. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation: This is presented in the Fiscal Strategy Paper (Pre-Budget Statement) which is not available to the public Comment: Peer Reviewer One Comment: Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” In Nigeria, there are Medium Term Sector Strategies (MTSS) that cover 2007-2009. Annual budgets for Ministries Departments and Agencies derive from the specific MTSS for the period. Much as the MTSS is not a budget document per se, the budget relates and is based on it, to that extent, the researcher is wrong. The MTSS is not publicly available as you need to have personal contacts and connections to access it. IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to reflect that the information is not available to the public during the time when the executive’ budget proposal is under consideration in the legislature. Moreover, the researcher and reviewer both note that the MTSS document is not available to the public.	b

13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year? a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented. b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded. c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details. d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented. e. Not applicable/other (please comment). Citation: The executive budget does not present additional information regarding the breakdown of government debt; they are presented as total amounts. They can be found in other publications of government agencies which might not be available. Comment: Peer Reviewer One Comment: Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The Debt Management Office (DMO) provides on its website http://www.dmo.gov.ng additional information on national debt. The DMO analysis is also publicly available on the internet and even the budget speech by the President to the National Assembly provides such details. IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” as the specific intention of Questions 1-55 in the questionnaire is to evaluate the information available to the public in a country’s annual consolidated budget presentation (that is, the executive’s budget proposal and its supporting documents.)	d

14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based? <ul style="list-style-type: none"> a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly. b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded. c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details. d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented. e. But as for Production Sharing Agreements, Joint Venture Agreements, Stabilization Agreements, etc. that government entities enter into with private companies in oil, gas or mining sectors, they are not made available to the public. In the immediate past, activities in the extractive industries have been shrouded in secrecy in spite of efforts by the National Assembly to make them accountable. Comment:

Refer to the Nigerian Maritime Authority (NMA) Isreali Contract Scandal allegedly involving Andy Uba Snr. Sp. Asst. to the President. The case of BPE's sale of public companies like the refineries also readily comes to mind. It is strongly believed that due process was not followed by the previous administration.

A more appropriate response to this question would be “c” Former Minister of Finance (2003-2006), Dr. (Mrs.) Ngozi Okonjo-Iweala and Director-General of Due Process, Dr. (Mrs.) Oby Ezekwesili informed the panel of the House of Representatives probing the power sector that the President granted waivers of due process in all the $16 billion contracts awarded. The probe has revealed that even blacklisted companies were awarded contracts. Many Nigerians believe that the same could be true of many other contracts awarded between 1999 and 2007 and therefore, are calling for a probe of other contracts awarded by the Obasanjo eight-year Administration. For example, the Conference of Nigerian Political Parties (CNPP) has urged the Auditor-General to produce audit report for 2007. Nigerian Tribune (Ibadan) 14 April 2008; The Punch (Lagos), 28 March 2008, p.1.

Researcher Additional Comments:

The capacity for legislative scrutiny of the budget, and of exercising appropriate oversight, seems limited. The first constraint is the nature of Nigerian politics. Candidates and voters are uninterested in public policy issues; in Nigeria, politicians campaign and citizens vote on the bases of consanguinity - blood, ethnic, family, section, social, business relationship, and for cash. Second, the National Assembly does not have a budget office; the Assembly or its Public Accounts Committees do not have a dedicated, competent source analysis. Competent manpower is still hard to come by. Politicians still want to employ their kit and kin, friends instead of going for competent hands.

Third, reactions to budget presentation are politicized. The most cogent example is the fate of the Fiscal Responsibility Bill. Passage of the bill is seen as likely to reduce the influence of godfathers. Stakeholders perceive that its scope and extent may be significantly diluted. Fourth, delivery of the budget document is often late.

Peer Reviewer Two Additional Comments: The only additional general comments that I need to make is that Civil Society in Nigeria is championing the campaign for a regime of freedom of Information and it has passed various stages preparatory to being enacted as law. This Act when functional will compel public servants to make information available to any interested citizen so long as s/he can justify the need for the information. Until then some information cannot be accessed but it is important to say that people access information informally
