Comment:
Since 2007 the expenditures related to the programs financed partially by the EU are classified to the separate "class" of economic classification. It means, that in practice the economic classification of these expenditures became unknown. In the draft budget 2008 the expenditures related to the programs supporting by the EU constitute ca 15% of the budget expenditures.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Not all, but most of the expenditures are classified by economic classification, see appendix 2 to the Executive's Budget Proposal

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “c.” I chose my answer because in 2007 new column FEU – “Projects co-financed by the EU” was added, “demolishing” the economic classification of budget expenditure. Since 2007 the investment expenditure not only in the “CAP” column, but partially in “CAP” column, and partially in “FEU” column. Also the expenditure classified until 2006 as “BEN” and “CEX” can now appear in the column “FEU.” Finally, we cannot – for example – calculate the total amount of state budget expenditure for investments. It means that the changes introduced in 2007 made the state budget less transparent. It is also important, that:
   1) in 2007 the expenditure classified as “FEU” constituted almost 10% of overall state budget expenditure, and that majority of investment expenditure was classified as “FEU,” and not as “CAP”;
   2) more than 5% of expenditure was classified as “budgetary reserves” (contingency funds) – the economic classification of budgetary reserves determined in the enacted state budget should be treated only as preliminary one and can be easily changed by the executive during the fiscal year.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

   a. Program-level data are presented for all expenditures.
   b. Program-level data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
   c. Program-level data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures.
   d. No program-level data are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:

   Comment:
   The part of the "chapters" of the program classification encompasses all expenditures of the specified state agency, and not the expenditures for individual program. In some cases such system of classification is used for the agencies with strongly differentiated tasks.

   Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
   b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:

   Comment:
   According to the law on public finance only the estimates of macroeconomic parameters should be presented in the explanatory notes to the executive's budget proposal.

   Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Some information are presented for the multi-year investment programs and for the programs co-financed by the EU, but there are not complete multi-year estimates for any “dimension” of budgetary classification. The multi-year estimates for the aggregate expenditure are not presented.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.”

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “c.” I chose my answer because there are three types of multi-year programs presented in more detailed form in the state budget: multi-year investments, multi-year programs established by the government decision or by the parliamentary act, so-called operational programs, co-financed by the EU funds. All expenditure for multi-year investments are ex definitione the capital expenditure and they are not presented in more detailed form – in the state budget we have only, the cumulative ceilings for the separate years of the multi-year investments (see appendix 6 to the state budget for 2007). It also applies to the multi-year programs (see appendix 12). The expenditure for the operational programs is presented in the state budget in much more detailed manner. The expenditure connected with specific operational programs is divided, for each year of the program, into the priorities (functions) and actions (sub-functions). In addition, the structure of financing is presented for each operational program.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries
7. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of tax revenue amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues are identified individually.
   d. No sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

17. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year that shows how policy proposals in the budget, as distinct from existing policies, affect revenues?

- Yes, extensive information on the impact of policy proposals on revenues is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
- Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policy proposals on revenues, but some details are excluded.
- Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

Comment:
See previous question. The legislative changes influencing the budget revenues are described, but without the quantitative estimation of their impact.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.”

In general, information on the impact of policy proposals on revenues is not presented, except for one sentence (Explanatory note, page 28). It refers to the policy fields where some changes in legal acts will be introduced. There is no information on the impact of these changes.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “c.” I chose my answer because I agree with Peer Reviewer 2, that the information provided by the government is not sufficient to fully understand the impact of government policy on the budget revenue. However, the answer “d” is – as I understand – appropriate only in case of lack of any information describing the effects of government policy. So, in case of Poland the proper answer is close to “d,” but it is still “c.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.

20. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by economic classification?

Comment:
In general, the estimates for BY-1 are not presented in the executive's budget proposal. In the previous years the detailed estimates for BY-1 were presented in the explanatory notes (supporting document 1). In the supporting document 1 for the 2008 budget there are no such estimates, or – more precisely – such estimates are presented only for few selected items.

Researcher’s response to this question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a”

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should be changed as suggested by Peer Reviewer two “a.” 1. The document the reviewer has cited is the art of the supporting documents for the draft state budget for 2008 (note that Internet link cited by Peer Reviewer 2 is the same as shown for Executive’s Budget Proposal on the page 6 of the questionnaire).

2. I understood that the answer “a” is appropriate only when the estimates for BY-1 are presented for all items of the expenditure side of the state budget. The table indicated by the Peer Reviewer 2 contains estimates for BY-1 for all aggregated groups of expenditure. It means that in the supporting document 1 we have information about BY-1 estimates for the aggregated items covering 100% of expenditure. So, if more detailed estimates for BY-1 are not necessary to fulfill the criteria for answer “a,” I propose to accept the proposal of Peer Reviewer 2.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
21. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1)?

   a. Program-level expenditure data are presented for all expenditures for BY-1.
   b. Program-level expenditure data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures for BY-1.
   c. Program-level expenditure data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures for BY-1.
   d. No program-level expenditure data are presented for BY-1.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

22. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, how many months of actual data are reflected in the expenditure estimates of the year prior to the budget year (BY-1)?

a. All BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels to reflect six or more months of actual expenditure.
b. All BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels, but reflect less than six months of actual expenditure.
c. Some BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels to reflect actual expenditure.
d. The BY-1 estimates have not been updated from the original enacted levels, or no BY-1 estimates are presented.

Comment: In general, if the estimates for BY-1 are presented, they are based on the operational report for July or August

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” All BY-1 estimates have been updated from the original enacted levels; however in some cases there is no need to change the original level.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “c.” I chose my answer because it is true, that the BY-1 (2007) estimates presented in the table on page 369 of explanatory notes for state budget 2008 (indicated by the Peer Reviewer 2) visibly differ from the corresponding data from the enacted budget. However, if we compare the data from the table in explanatory notes with data in so-called operational report for July 2007 (dated September 3, 2007 – last operational report published before the date of submission of the draft budget to the Parliament) we see, that the estimates in the explanatory notes cannot be treated as reflecting six or more months of actual expenditure. In general, the estimates presented in the explanatory notes are based on the amended budget and not on the operational reports….

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
23. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for years that precede the budget year by more than one year (that is, BY-2 and prior years)?

Comment:

The executive's budget contains (as its obligatory part) the financial plans (separated from the "proper" state budget) for all state appropriated funds (separately for each fund), the budget enterprises (three aggregated plans for three types of such extra-budgetary units) and for selected self-financing state agencies. All these plans are also described in the supporting document 1. There are not significant changes (between 2006 and 2007) in the manner of presentation (in the supporting documents for the draft state budget) the activity and finance of extra-budgetary funds, but – in my opinion – more information concerning planned performance of these funds should be presented.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” There is no basis for answer d – according to the budgetary documents less than 1% of expenditure is dedicated to secret items and assumption that the real percentage is not available to the public can not be based on any evidence.

both agencies are financed from the state budget

The principles of supplying and use of these funds are determined, for each agency separately, by the secret decrees of the heads of agencies. In my opinion this text is only the description of an experiment with the performance-based budgeting techniques (very useful) and cannot be treated as the government’s statement on its targets and expected results. In addition, the text on pages 305-367 doesn’t match the criteria defined in the article 124 of Public Finance Act.

49. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation explain how the proposed budget is linked to government’s stated policy goals for a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

a. Yes, extensive information on the link between the budget and the government’s stated policy goals over a multi-year period is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.

b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the major policy goals, but some details are excluded.

c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

d. No, information on the link between the budget and the government’s stated policy goals over a multi-year period is not presented.

Comment:
The performance indicators are presented – for the first time – in the supporting document 1. The government was obliged (by the provisions of article 124 of the law on public finance) to include the performance measures to the supporting document 1. The chapter XII of the supporting document 1 should be treated as the first attempt to produce the "real" result-based budget. The performance measures presented in the chapter XII do not cover all the budget and the quality of indicators used to measure the performance of budgetary programs is strongly differentiated.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The performance budget (chapter XII) presents targets only for one year 2008 (for most performance indicators).

Anyway, the problem is rather theoretical, because in the last year there are no such operations.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.”
The comment does not take into account financial assistance from the EU, (according to the Guide p. 37-38 we should understand EU under IFI as well)

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.”
Some definitions are provided in Strategy of public debt management pages 33-36, but the information is rather limited
The Ministry of Finance presents some definitions on its website
Also, the National Bank of Poland provides a glossary of terms but it is not included in the budget documents.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “d.” I chose my answer because I knew the document indicated by the Peer Reviewer 2. In my opinion it cannot be treated as an useful set of definitions concerning the state budget, because:
1) it contains only few definitions – 14, of which 3 are not directly connected with the state budget;
2) it contains many serious errors, part of definitions cannot be treated as “non-technical”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
63. Do citizens have the right in law to access government information, including budget information?

   a. Yes, the right has been codified into law, and citizens are generally able in practice to obtain government information, including budget information.
   b. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is sometimes not possible for citizens in practice to obtain government information, including budget information.
   c. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is frequently or always impossible in practice to obtain access to government information, including budget information.

The government is authorized by law to shift funds:
(a) within every item of functional classification,
(b) from budgetary reserves to the budgets of specified administrative units,
(c) allocated to the programs co-financed by the EU, without the authorization by the Parliament, but there are some exceptions:
- the funds allocated to the multi-year funds can be shifted only with prior positive opinion of the budgetary commission of the Sejm,
- the funds from so-called "targeted reserves" (rezerwy celowe) can be used for the purposes different from those determined in the budget act only with prior positive opinion of the budgetary commission.
The funds can be shifted between sections (most aggregated units of functional classification) only by the parliamentary act.
It means, that in different cases the answers "a" or "d" are correct. *

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.”

Shifting funds between administrative units requires a formal change in the budget so it must be approved. In case of appropriated reserve it requires an authorization by the budgetary commission.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire, “e.” I chose my answer because in most cases the parliamentary approval is necessary to shift funds between the administrative units. However, in some specific cases such approval is not necessary.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.

c. Expenditures are approved after the end of the fiscal year, for example in the next budget.

Comment:
According to the articles 133–135 the use of contingency funds (budgetary reserves) doesn’t need the parliamentary approval. The reserves created by the voivods (described in the article 102 para 4 and article 135 of the Public Finance Act) are typical general reserves, so at least article 135 should be indicated together with article 134 concerning “central” general reserve. From the formal point of view the article 133 – concerning appropriated (targeted) reserves should be excluded from the citation. I indicated article 133 because in Polish practice the titles of appropriated reserves are often so “large,” that there is no clear difference between such “appropriated reserves” and “general reserve.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Correct

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Different rules apply to appropriated reserves and a general reserve, Question relates to general reserve so just article 134 should be mentioned in the comment.

According the article 205, paragraph 1 of the Constitution “The President of the Supreme Chamber of Control shall be appointed by the Sejm, with the consent of the Senate, for a period of 6 years, which may be extended for one more period only.” The law from December 23, 1994 on the Supreme Chamber of Control specifies (in the article 17 paragraph 1) that the Sejm can dismiss the President of the SCC only if: 1) the President has resigned from office, 2) the Sejm acknowledges that the President is durably unable to perform duties for health reasons, 3) the President has been found guilty of a crime by a legally valid court verdict, 4) the Tribunal of State has ruled that the President should be excluded from executive positions or functions involving special responsibilities in state bodies. The term of office of the President of the SCC expires also expires in the case of his death or expires in the case of his death or a ruling of the Tribunal of State depriving him of office by dismissal.

Comment:
The Council of Ministers is obliged to include (without any changes) the draft budget of the SCC prepared in the SCC to the executive's budget proposal. The Sejm can change the budget of the SCC, but in practice the changes (if any) are not significant.

Comment:
According to the article 62c paragraph 1 of the law on the Supreme Chamber of Control, the head of the audited unit or other body that was submitted the post-audit statement is obliged to inform the Supreme Chamber of Control about the way of using the comments and implementing recommendations as well as about the undertaken actions or about the grounds for not having undertaken these actions. This information is available on request. The SCC doesn't publish a separate report concerning the steps undertaken by the audited units to implement the recommendations made in the post-audit statement. However, every report published by Supreme Chamber of Control after an audit contains the information on the actions taken by the controlled unit after the previous audit. Such information is also included in the analysis of the state budget execution, presented each year by Supreme Chamber of Control.

In my opinion the quality and quantity of information in the executive's budget proposal and supporting documents has decreased from 2006 to 2008. For example:

1) starting from 2007 the economic classification of expenditure was introduced; the expenditures for all the programs financed partially from the EU funds were excluded from the categories used previously (such as “subsidies,” “investment,” “current expenditure of state agencies” to the new category “Programs co-, financed by the EU”; in effect the data from 2007 state budget are not comparable with the data from the previous budgets and, in addition, the global expenditure for investment or subsidies are not clearly shown in the budget,

2) the new, more aggregated pattern of presenting the consolidated revenue and expenditure of the general government was introduced (in 2007) to the explanatory notes,

3) only small part of investment expenditure (in 2007 – less than 8%) is presented as the individual investment programs,

4) the presentation of the transfers (strongly increasing in the last years) between Poland and EU is unclear and incomplete,

5) the rules for separating the expenditure and deficit financing being in use in the state budget since 2006 are not in line with the ESA and GFS principles. **
