Section Two: The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:
BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)
BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year
BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Please mark your answer by placing the appropriate letter in the box to the right of the question. For all answers marked “not applicable/other,” please provide a brief explanation indicating either why the answer choices provided are not applicable or why another response would be more appropriate.
The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond

1. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   - a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit.
   - b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately.
   - c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   - d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented.
   - e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:
The answer selected demonstrates an improvement in performance from the 2006 round of research. According to art.7 p.6 of The Project of The Federal Budget for 2008-2010, expenditures are classified by administrative unit is presented: for 2008 – according to appendices 28, 29 (confidentially) and 30 (top secret); on 2009 - 2010 – according to appendices 31, 32 (confidentially) and 33 (top secret). The detailed information by administrative units is presented in The Explanatory Note To Parameters Of The Project Of The Federal Budget For 2008 And For The Period Till 2010.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: I suspect that the author misunderstood the term “classified” here. I would think that the more accurate rating here would be “b.” This is because there is considerable amount of undisclosed (secret) spending, for which is not entirely clear to which administrative units they are assigned.

Researcher Response: I chose my answer “a” because in the budget draft for 2008-2010 there is a detailed breakdown on agencies and there are explanations in the Explanatory note. Secret articles are confirmed only within the federal budget and their volume is reflected in expenditures on agencies, including the military agencies.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” consistent with researcher’s response.
2. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by functional classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function.
   d. No expenditures classified by function are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:
   According to art.7 p.1 of The Project of the Federal Budget for 2008-2010, expenditures are classified by functional classification is presented: for 2008 – according to appendices 10, 11 (confidentially); on 2009 - 2010 – according to appendices 12, 13 (confidentially).

   Comment:
   Peer Reviewer One Comment:
   Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Annexes 10 and 11 provide very detailed functional classification and they are available from the Ministry’s website.

3. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by economic classification?

   a. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by economic classification.
   d. No expenditures classified by economic classification are presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:
   The information by economic classification is presented in The Explanatory Note To Parameters Of The Project Of The Federal Budget For 2008 And For The Period Till 2010.

   Comment:
   Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” Expenditures are not classified by economic classification. Technically, in the new edition of the Budget Code economic classification is called “classification of operations in public sector” and in essence coincides with the economic classification that was used previously. This classification is not used in budget proposal.

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment: I agree with the Rating "c."
But I do not see the economic classification in the Explanatory note. Moreover, it is worthwhile noting the numbers in the Note reflect that draft budget, not the budget finally approved by the Duma. In short, some elements of economic classification are available, but I am unable to locate a comprehensive economic classification.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “c”.

In fact according with new edition of the Budget Code (Federal Law 26.04.2007 N 63-FZ) instead of “economic classification” is “Classification of the operations of the public administration sector”.

Code of classification of the public administration sector consists of the code of group, article and subarticle of the operations of the public administration sector. United for the budgets of the budget system of Russian Federation groups and articles of the operations of the public administration sector are the following:

- Salaries and taxes for salaries
- Fees for works and services
- Service for the state and municipal debt
- Gratuitous transfers to organizations
- Gratuitous transfers to budgets
- Social care
- Expenditures on operations with actives
- Other expenses
- Increase of the cost of the general means

Explanations for these articles are in the Explanatory note.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answer across countries.
4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

According to art. 7 of The Project of the Federal Budget for 2008-2010, expenditures are classified by section, subitem, target article, a kind of expenditure is presented: for 2008 – according to appendices 10, 11 (confidentially); on 2009 - 2010 – according to appendices 12, 13 (confidentially).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Annexes 22 and 25 provide program classification of the budget, but they cover less 25% of total spending.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “a.” «Expenditures for individual programs» - gives the detail for expenditures for the expenses for the federal budget.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A note for the attachments on concrete Programs, which are financed within the federal budget. As shown in the Attachments 22 and 25 of the Program as the other expenditures of the federal have high level of detail.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” The Explanatory note contains detailed breakdown of all non-tax revenues (by sub-articles), including property income, sales of goods and services etc. The above reference is correct, and I could not find non-tax revenues that were not identified individually.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” The Explanatory Note to the 2008 Budget Draft (pp 29-35) provides a detailed description of non-tax revenues

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
9. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of revenue presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

10. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for revenue estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

11. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present data on the total government debt outstanding for the budget year?

- a. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt both at the start of the budget year and at the end of the budget year (and thereby reflect the net borrowing requirement of the budget).
- b. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the end of the budget year.
- c. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the start of the budget year.
- d. No, data on the outstanding debt are not presented.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:
The answer selected demonstrates an improvement in performance from the 2006 round of research. According to art.1 of The Project of the budget for 2008-2010 affirms the top limit of the state internal and external duty of the Russian Federation on the beginning and the end of each year 2008-2010

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The data at the reference above reflect the top limit of state debt at the end of the budget year (so the data are for January 1 of the year, following the budget year), therefore the enacted BY-1 budget has to be employed in order to trace net increase of this indicator in BY.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain “a.” I chose my answer because the data reflect the outstanding debt both at the start of the budget year and at the end of the budget year.

In the previous research (OBI2006) the answer was “b,” as the data reflect the outstanding debt at the end of the budget year.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
12. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present interest payments on the debt for the budget year?

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b” Interest rates are not indicated in the above-mentioned appendices.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.”
I do not see detailed info on the structure of the debt stock. What is available is the data on the new debt flow, but also without details on e.g. maturity and currency structure of the debt.

Researcher Response: the information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year is presented in more detail.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based?

a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly.

b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded.

c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details.

d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented.

e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:
The macroeconomic forecast is presented in the art.1 The Project of the budget (inflation, real GDP growth) and in The Explanatory Note To Parameters Of The Project Of The Federal Budget For 2008 And For The Period Till 2010 (the table 1 p.10 The basic macroeconomic parameters for 2007 and for the period till 2010). The detailed forecast socially–economic development of the Russian Federation for 2008, parameters of the forecast for the period till 2010 and marginal levels of the prices (tariffs) for production (services) of subjects of natural monopolies has been presented by the Ministry of economic development and trade in April 2007 (http://www.economy.gov.ru)

b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.

c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

d. No, information on the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is not presented.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” I do not see a comprehensive sensitivity analysis in the documents. No separate scenarios (low case) are given. There is just information on the impact of key macro changes such as oil price.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “a”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “а.” There seems to be a sensitivity analysis where all the above criteria are taken into consideration under two distinct scenarios.
16. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year that shows how policy proposals in the budget, as distinct from existing policies, affect expenditures?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of policy proposals on expenditures is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policy proposals on expenditures, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on the impact of policy proposals on expenditures is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Detailed information about policy proposals and their effect on expenditures is provided in the Explanatory note both by section and subsection, and also by administrative unit.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain “b.”
Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policy proposals on expenditures, but some details are excluded

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
17. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year that shows how policy proposals in the budget, as distinct from existing policies, affect revenues?

a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of policy proposals on revenues is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policy proposals on revenues, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information on the impact of policy proposals on revenues is not presented.

18. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)?

   a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit for BY-1.
   b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit for BY-1, but some small units are not shown separately.
   c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit for BY-1, but a significant number of units are not shown separately.
   d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented for BY-1.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The Comment above is confusing. The Explanatory Note provides a detailed functional classification for BY-1, but there is no administrative classification for BY-1 in place. The rating should be “c” at best. I do not understand where the above citation is coming from.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “a”
Volume and the structure of the expenditures obligations of the RF, which are to be executed for the means of the assignations of the federal budget, seen by the Ministries for the 2008-2010 years and the 2007 are in the Explanatory note on each agency.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” in light of the researcher’s comment.
19. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by functional classification?

a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification for BY-1, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification for BY-1, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function for BY-1.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I should note that the Perspective Financial Plan is used (and referred to in budget supporting documents) in preparation of budget proposal, but it cannot be considered (as I mentioned in table 2) a supporting document itself, because it’s not included into the package to be submitted to the legislature.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” I think that the Explanatory Note (pp 5-12) provides a detailed breakdown of revenues for 2007 (BY-1)

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should “d.” Perspective Financial Plan is noted as one of the main budget documents, we think the reference is possible. In Explanatory Note there are changes in 2008 in comparison with 2007 on some of the sources of income in the absolute and relative expression. (For example at page 13: In 2008 general volume of the profit for the goals of the taxation is estimated in the amount 7432,4 bill. rub., or at level 21,24% to GDP, with decrease for 0,66% in comparison with expected assessment of the 2007 year).

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d.” The Perspective Financial Plan is the pre-budget statement and therefore will be referred to when considering questions 71-73.
28. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of non-tax revenue (such as grants, property income, and sales of goods and services) for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1)?

   a. All non-tax revenues are identified individually for BY-1.
   b. Non-tax revenues amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, non-tax revenue for BY-1 are identified individually.
   c. Non-tax revenues amounting to less than two-thirds of all non-tax revenues for BY-1 are identified individually.
   d. No non-tax revenues are identified individually for BY-1.

35. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year on extra-budgetary funds?

a. Yes, extensive information on extra-budgetary funds is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting key extra-budgetary funds, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information on extra-budgetary funds is not presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Information is presented in The Explanatory Note To Parameters Of The Project Of The Federal Budget For 2008 And For The Period Till 2010 p.165-170, in the art.15. Features of transfer in 2008 of inter-budgetary transfers to extra-budgetary funds of the Russian Federation is In the Project of the Federal Budget.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” The budgets of extra-budgetary funds (Pension Fund, Social Insurance Fund and Obligatory Medical Insurance Fund) are prepared separately and approved by separate laws that contain very detailed information. The executive’s budget deals only with transfers from federal budget to the budgets of extra-budgetary funds, and these transfers form only a part of the funds’ revenues.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: I agree with the rating. I do not see the information on actual budgets of the funds, only transfers to these funds from the federal budget.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “c.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
36. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year on intergovernmental transfers?
   a. Yes, extensive information on intergovernmental transfers is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting key intergovernmental transfers, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

The answer selected demonstrates an improvement in performance from the 2006 round of research. According to a part of 2 art.80 of the Budget Code text article of the law about the budget budgetary assignments for payments in authorized capitals of the juridical persons, not being the state (municipal) establishments and the unitary enterprises, with the instruction of their volume and the purpose should be approved. Proceeding from it, art.13 of The Project of the Federal Budget for 2008-2010 stipulates the statement of the list of the open joint-stock companies for realization of payments in their authorized capitals.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The Explanatory Note provides considerable amount of details on tax expenditures, but there is no consolidated estimates. At the same time, the level of quasi-fiscal spending in Russia is relatively low. It is not a major problem.

Art.19 certain the order of payment in 2008-2010 of indemnifications to separate categories of citizens under contributions to Savings bank of the Russian Federation, and also in the Foreign trade and investment banc.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” There seems to be some misunderstanding on the researcher side. Art. 19 of the executive’s budget deals with compensation of deposits that existed in Soviet banks before 1991 and essentially disappeared due to galloping inflation in early 90’s. Actually there is no information on expenditure arrears in the executive’s budget. This may be due to absence of such arrears (at least at the federal level). Besides, expenditures in the executive’s budget are not presented in economic classification (which contains the relevant codes reflecting changes in expenditure arrears).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” There are no traditional federal budget expenditure arrears in Russia. There are some old Soviet debts which are not very explicit which Russian Government decided to repay gradually.

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should be changed as suggested by Peer Reviewer one “d.” I agree partly with comments 1, 2. Actually there is no information on expenditure arrears in the executive’s budget. But according to the Fed Law 10 May 1995 № 73- "On restoration and defense of the savings of the citizens of the Russian Federation,” compensation of deposits that existed in Soviet banks before 1991 were admitted the internal debt which will be repaid.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
42. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information on contingent liabilities (such as government loan guarantees)?

a. Yes, extensive information on contingent liabilities is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting key contingent liabilities, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information on contingent liabilities is not presented.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The Budget Law contains information on the new budget guarantees (flow), but nothing is said on accumulated stock of such guarantees.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Appendices 45 and 46 to the executive’s budget provide detailed information on donor assistance (assistance from foreign donors such as World Bank, EBRD, etc.)

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The Explanatory Note contains information on the amount of credits from International Financial Organizations, which is the major channel of donor assistance in Russia. Grants are not reflected in the federal budget, but they are insignificant.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: There seems to be some misunderstanding. Art. 26 of the executive’s budget has nothing in common with the question asked.    a. One percent or less of expenditure is dedicated to secret items.
   b. Three percent or less, but more than one percent, of expenditure is dedicated to secret items.
   c. Eight percent or less, but more than three percent, of expenditure is dedicated to secret items.
   d. More than eight percent of expenditure is dedicated to secret items, or the percentage is not available to the public.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

All expenditures are classified by administrative unit and by functional classification (by section, subitem, target article, a kind of expenditure). The volume of the expenditures under confidential appendices (11, 13, 29, 32) and absolutely confidential appendices (30, 33) of the Federal Budget is not available to the public.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Comparison of total expenditures and expenditures broken down by administrative unit and by functions indicates pretty high percentage of secret spending, around 12%. Therefore the answer is “d”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher Response: I suggest the answer should remain “d.” Where is the number 12%, mentioned by reviewer one? In the budget for the 2008-2010 years there is no possibility to assess the volume of the “secret” articles.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” in light of the researcher’s observation.

In budget there is no reference to “most impoverished populations” and no allocations for these goals. There is support for disabled, veterans, citizens affected by radiation and nuclear proving, citizens, having children, etc., but support is not depending on the income of these categories.

Citation:
Information on tax rates, fees, royalties and other revenues sources is presented on the official sites of the State Dume, the Ministry of Finance and of the Federal Tax Service (http://www.nalog.ru)

Comment:
In fact, the information on the tax rates are presented detailed could be given the answer «a» (such answer was for the previous budget). It is difficult to assess the transparency of the commercial projects with participation of the private capital, including the oil and gas sector. Possible to decrease the answer to the “b,” as was done primarily. As if taking into account whether or not a country makes available to the public the terms and conditions regarding revenues that might accrue to the government from commercial projects in the extractive industries we decrease answer to “c.” Then Federal Law N 65-FZ from 6 June 2003 introduces to the Tax Code of RF the Chapter 26.4: System of taxation within the production sharing agreements, which establishes the special taxation regime which applies to agreements, which concluded according to the Federal law “On Agreements on sharing production.” This chapter specifies the features of defining the tax base, calculating and paying taxes for the extraction of minerals within the execution the production sharing agreements.

In Russia there are 3 projects with production sharing agreements: “Sakhalin-1,” “Sakhalin-2,” and Harjaginskoe field. The information is presented on the official site of the Ministry of Industry and Energy (Minpromenergo): http://www.minprom.gov.ru/.
In December 2007 were held the managing committees on realizing in Russian Federation agreements on sharing production “Sakhalin-1,” “Sakhalin-2,” and Harjaginskoe field, were approved the programs of activities and budgets of expenses on projects. Information is presented on the web-page of Minpromenergo of Russia - http://www.minprom.gov.ru/activity/energy/news/332/print

In Internet there are web-sited, which present information on projects “Sakhalin-1” http://www.sakhalin1.ru/ and “Sakhalin-2” http://www.sakhalinenergy.ru/

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”
Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Taxes receive extensive coverage in the Tax Code, all changes to which are made by law and are therefore public. Most part of non-tax revenues are formed by customs duties, which are set by legislation and other normative acts that can be found without much difficulty from open sources. The situation is more complicated with revenues from state property. Anyway, not less than 95% of revenues are described in detail. Even the example provided shows that there is information available on some very specific revenue sources, rather than otherwise.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” I did not find the above comment convincing.

Researcher’s Response: I suggest the answer should be changed to “b” I agree with assessments and data of Peer Reviewer one and Peer Reviewer two
But all what concerns “commercial projects involving the private sector” are not well open to the public

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” There is info on a distribution of the tax burden between the oil and gas sector and the rest of the economy. There is also information on benefits from lower tax rates in specific sectors, such as agriculture.

Researcher’s Response: I suggest the answer should remain “d.”
No, “an analysis of the distribution of the tax burden” is not presented in the budget. Nor by the groups of the population with the different level of income, neither on enterprises of small, medium, large business

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The Budget Code contains very technical, but clear definitions, on which the wording of the budget law is based. These definitions are indeed available. Still, there is no special glossary with non-technical definitions for the general public, but I think the “glossary article” (Art. 6 that defines main concepts) will do.

63. Do citizens have the right in law to access government information, including budget information?

a. Yes, the right has been codified into law, and citizens are generally able in practice to obtain government information, including budget information.

b. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is sometimes not possible for citizens in practice to obtain government information, including budget information.

c. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is frequently or always impossible in practice to obtain access to government information, including budget information.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: This is confusing. What should be considered a pre-budget Document? If this is a Budget Statement by the President (as in q. 71), then the rating here should be C (little macro framework), if it is an Explanatory Note that the rating should be A. I think that the former is a correct option.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” In-year reports contain data on expenditure budgeted for the whole year and data on actual year-to-date expenditure. Original estimates for that period or for the same period of previous year are not present in the report form, therefore no comparison can be made using one in-year report. Generally in-year reports are pretty detailed and are published regularly; however, due to changes in budget classification they are not always directly comparable.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I would include here the reference to in-year reports on the sources of financing budget deficit (http://www.roskazna.ru/reports/fb.html). Technically, this is where the data on actual in-year borrowing go, including domestic and external debt (budgeted amounts and in-year execution, though without detail on sources of borrowing, only general sums etc.). The Ministry of Finance publishes some information as well. As the above links do not work, I’d suggest the following links: http://www1.minfin.ru/ru/public_debt/internal/structure/duty/month/ - monthly reports concerning the structure and dynamics of domestic (internal) debt http://www1.minfin.ru/ru/public_debt/external/structure/ - quarter reports on the structure of external debt.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b” Though the data on composition of external debt (http://www1.minfin.ru/ru/public_debt/external/structure/) are not very detailed, there is extensive coverage of internal debt. For example, data at http://www1.minfin.ru/ru/public_debt/internal/structure/release/table/ contain very detailed information on issues of government debt obligations with particular characteristics. Data at http://www1.minfin.ru/ru/public_debt/internal/operations/ cover the operations of the Ministry of Finance with regard to distribution of government securities (auctions etc.)

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” As I noted in Table 2, there is no mid-year review in a sense prescribed by IBP OBI Guide and OECD Best Practice (in-year report on budget execution for 6 months cannot be a substitute). The Ministry of Economy performs ongoing monitoring of the economic situation, but it does not relate it to the ongoing budget execution.

The IBP OBI Guide clearly states that in-year report issued six months into the budget year should not serve as a substitute for mid-year review. In-year reports (including those issued six months into the budget year) do not contain “comprehensive update on the implementation of the budget, including a review of the economic assumptions underlying the budget and an updated forecast of the budget outcome for the current budget year” and other things mentioned in OECD Best Practice.

Therefore I dare say that there is no mid-year review of the budget in the Russian Federation as defined in the Guide

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: I am not sure I understand what is meant as Mid-Year Review. Is it separate from the Budget Execution report for 6 months? If not, then the rating should be “d.” It does not discuss the Economy at all.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” in light of peer reviewers’ comments and the researcher’s comment under Question 93.

The volumes of revenue and expenditure have not changed.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Oil prices have skyrocketed over the last few years; therefore the revenues of federal budget have grown very fast, which has led to steep rises in expenditure. At the very end of 2007, by law N 238-FZ of November 23, 2007 the budget expenditure was increased by 20%. In 2008, however, as of July, the increase is around 5% (but the fiscal year is not over yet). I cannot say that such increases are general practice because the economic environment has been very favorable to Russia. Therefore I think that a more appropriate response to this question would be “c.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.”
The assessment is missing the last amendment of 2007 budget made in November, which expanded the budget by more than 5%.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” consistent with peer reviewer’s observations.
100. When does the legislature approve the expenditure of contingency funds or other funds for which no specific purpose was identified in the budget?

a. Expenditures are approved before the funds are expended, or contingency funds or other funds with no specific purposes are not included in the budget.
b. Expenditures are approved after the funds are expended, but before the end of the fiscal year.
c. Expenditures are approved after the end of the fiscal year, for example in the next budget.
d. Such expenditure takes place without legislative approval.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

The answer selected demonstrates an improvement in performance from the 2006 round of research. According art.81 of the Budget Code (in view of the changes approved in 2007) "The report on use of means of reserve fund is applied on quarterly and annual reports on execution of the budget." In the previous edition it has been specified «Enforcement authority quarterly inform regulatory authority on an expenditure of means of reserve fund »

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The cited Art. 81 of the Budget code says that the executive has to prepare reports on expenditure from contingency fund (which is limited to 3 percent of total expenditure) and attach these reports to quarterly and annual budget execution reports (annual report will then have to be approved by the legislature). The President does not have to report on the use of his contingency fund (not more than 1 percent of total expenditure).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher’s Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “d”
According with the article 241 of the Budget Code of RF together with report on federal budget execution the report on expenditures from the Reserve Fund of the Government of RF and the Reserve Fund of the President of RF are submitted to the State Duma. Thus Legislative approves the submitted expenditures on the result of the year by the Law on execution of the budget. During the year the executive has to prepare reports on expenditure from contingency fund, which do not need the approval from legislative IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” in light of the comments provided by the researcher.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The citation indicates that the year-end report is released more than six months after the end of the fiscal year. These projects are usually submitted to parliament in late August and ultimately approved the following spring (March or April), that is, over 12 months after the end of the fiscal year. Therefore, a more appropriate response to this question would be “b.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher’s Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “a”
To add the comment: “According to the article 241 of the Budget Code of RF annually not later than 1 June of the current year the RF Government submit to the State Duma of RF and Accounting Chamber of RF the report on execution of the federal budget for the report financial period in the form of the federal law.”
The mentioned date (06.09.2007) – is the approval of the report in the form of law in the first reading, after the submitting to the State Duma and consideration by the legislatives.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” as for peer reviewer’s comment.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The correct link to audit reports on federal budget is http://www.ach.gov.ru/activity/2level_4.php.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: I do not understand the comment here. First, I am unable to locate any Audit reports at the referred website. Second, it is my understanding that two stages of report release should be separated a) Release by the MOF – unaudited report, 2-3 months after the year end – see q101. b) Release of the Audited report by the Accounting Chamber – 8-10 months after the year end.

Researcher’s Response: To add the comment: “According to the article 241 of the Budget Code of RF the Accounting Chamber of RF make scrutiny of the execution of the federal budget for the report financial year during the 1,5 months after the submitting of the mentioned report to the State Duma, using the materials and results of the made scrutinizes and audit. Results of the scrutiny are formed by the Resolution of the Accounting Chamber on the report of the RF Government on execution of federal budget.”

103. Does the year-end report explain the difference between the enacted levels (including in-year changes approved by the legislature) and the actual outcome for expenditures?

   a. Yes, an extensive explanation of the differences is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, an explanation is presented, highlighting key differences, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some explanation is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, an explanation is not presented, or such a report is not released.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” The year-end report (the law on execution of the federal budget) itself does not contain any explanations whatsoever. As far as I can see, the question is not about any supplementary documents published by the executive (and moreover, it is not open to the public).

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher’s Response: suggest the answer should be changed as suggested by Peer Reviewer one “d”.
104. What level of detail is the focus of the explanation of the differences between the enacted levels and the actual outcome for expenditures presented in the year-end report?

a. The explanation of the differences between the enacted expenditure levels and the actual outcome focuses on the program level.
b. The explanation focuses on departmental totals (or functional totals) or some lower level of detail (but not the program level in all cases).
c. The explanation focuses on a higher level of aggregation than departmental totals (or functional totals).
d. No explanation of the differences is provided, or such a report is not released.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” The year-end report (the law on execution of the federal budget) itself does not contain any explanations whatsoever. As far as I can see, the question is not about any supplementary documents published by the executive (and moreover, not open to the public).

According art.277, 278 Budget Code of the Russian Federation, art.2, 9 Federal laws «About Accounts Chamber of the Russian Federation » Accounts chamber in 2006 are prepared reports about execution of the federal budget for 2005. In 2006 the necessary complex of control and analytical actions has been carried out. 250 checks in federal enforcement authorities – managers of incomes of the federal budget, the main managers of means of the federal budget and other bodies to which the legislation of the Russian Federation assigns budgetary powers are lead. By results of these control actions 314 certificates are made. The conclusion has been directed to Council of Federation and the State Duma. See: http://www.ach.gov.ru/results/reports/2006.php

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The draft of the year-end report is submitted to the legislature approximately 9 months after the end of the fiscal year (see comment to question 101). This draft is subject to audit by the Accounts Chamber which is completed in late autumn (as for 2006, http://www.ach.gov.ru/activity/posl2006.doc, it was done in November 2007). The following spring the year-end report is approved by the Parliament (for 2006, it happened in April 2008). Therefore, final audited accounts are released within 24 months after the end of the fiscal year.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” There is a general annual report by the Accounts Chamber, which contains information on the results of its activity (for example, http://www.ach.gov.ru/results/reports/2006-4.php) and the actions taken following its recommendations. For example, the report says that on January 1, 207 89.4% of its instructions were fulfilled, and there were 84 criminal cases initiated in 2006. However, the Accounts Chamber gives recommendation that the Government should institute control over implementation of the Chamber’s instructions in its internal procedures.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Researcher’s Response: I suggest the answer should remain as I indicated in the questionnaire “d.” In fact the year reports of the Accounting Chamber contain some information on actions of the executive, made after its recommendations, but this should not be attributed to the report which tracks actions taken by the executive to address audit recommendations.
