Section Two: The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Notes on abbreviations:
BY = budget year (year for which the budget proposals are being made)
BY+1 = one year beyond the budget year
BY-1 = one year before the budget year

Please mark your answer by placing the appropriate letter in the box to the right of the question. For all answers marked “not applicable/other,” please provide a brief explanation indicating either why the answer choices provided are not applicable or why another response would be more appropriate.
The Executive’s Budget Proposal

Estimates for the Budget Year and Beyond

| 1. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by administrative unit (that is, by ministry, department, or agency)? |
|---|---|
| a. All expenditures are classified by administrative unit. |
| b. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but some small units are not shown separately. |
| c. Expenditures are classified by administrative unit, but a significant number of units are not shown separately. |
| d. No expenditures classified by administrative unit are presented. |
| e. Not applicable/other (please comment). |

Citation:

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: In the Draft Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure, the various Boards are allocated a number and thereupon the expenditures are classified according to Personnel Expenditures; Goods and Services; Minor Equipment purchases; and Current transfers and subsidies. Revenues are classified into Revenue and Government Loans or subventions.
2. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the budget year that are classified by functional classification?

a. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
b. All expenditures are classified by functional classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by function.
d. No expenditures classified by function are presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Within the documents cited, (PSIP and SSIP) program level data is supplied for most of the projects to be undertaken. This is supplemented with data on recurrent and capital expenditures.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The executive budget itself does not present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year but supporting documents e.g. the PSIP, do provide such information.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b” to maintain consistency with the guidance provided to researchers for correctly completing the questionnaire in the Guide to the Open Budget Questionnaire.
5. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of expenditure presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are presented.
   b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate expenditure are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
PSIP shows expenditure for 3 years

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Expenditure in all the documents stop at projected 2008 Expenditures.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Yes, but only for the PSIP, a supporting budget document.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d” As stated in the previous question multi year estimates are not presented

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
7. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of tax revenue amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues are identified individually.
   d. No sources of tax revenue are identified individually.

Gov’t Highlights (MoF) Monday 20 August 2007

Review of the Economy 2007 Monday 20 August 2007

Comment:
In addition to the above documents, the Annual Economic Survey issued by the Central Bank exists and in some way in fairness should also be acknowledged.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: While the Estimates of Revenue does give a breakdown of taxes and the revenue derived from such taxes, it may be claimed that some such taxes are not clearly demarcated. VAT for instance is not always distinguished from other taxes falling under the category of Goods and Services. Be that as it may however, the fact remains that broad categorization of taxes are indicated in the revenue estimates.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The Central Bank (CB) is not part of the executive and therefore the official economic and financial publications and reports of the CB should not be considered as supporting budget documentation.

IBP Comment: The Annual Economic Survey for 2006 cannot be used as a supporting budget document for the Executive’s Budget Proposal. It contains information regarding the 2005-2006 annual year and not the fiscal year which is from 1 October to 30 September. This is apparent in the discussion on Central Government Domestic Debt in the 2006 Annual Economic Survey (http://www.central-bank.org.tt/publications/issues/aes1183766541.pdf page 45), where it is stated that: “Central government domestic debt stood at $12,789.9 million (11.1 percent of GDP) at the end of December 2006 from $12,088.4 million (12.7 percent of GDP) at the end of 2005.”
8. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of non-tax revenue (such as grants, property income, and sales of goods and services) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of non-tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of non-tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, non-tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of non-tax revenues amounting to less than two-thirds of all non-tax revenue are identified individually.
   d. No sources of non-tax revenues are identified individually.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Comment:
   In addition to the above documents, the Annual Economic Survey issued by the Central Bank exists and in some way in fairness should also be acknowledged.

   Peer Reviewer One Comment: Whist the answer is correct, the citation referring to pages 54-55 in the Estimates of Revenue is not correct. Pages 22-40 Specifically list "Other Non-tax Revenue"

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

9. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of revenue presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate revenue are presented.
   b. No, multi-year estimates of aggregate revenue are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Comment:
   Trinidad and Tobago's Budgets are presented for the coming fiscal year alone in terms of revenue.

   Peer Reviewer One Comment:

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
10. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for revenue estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year revenue estimates are presented for individual sources of revenue, and by revenue classification (such as tax and non-tax).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented by revenue classification (such as tax and non-tax), but only for some individual sources of revenue.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for some individual sources of revenue.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate revenue only, or they are not presented at all.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Trinidad and Tobago's Budgets are presented for the coming fiscal year alone in terms of revenue. The PSIP provides capital expenditure for "medium term" (3 Years).

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
11. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present data on the total government debt outstanding for the budget year?

a. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt both at the start of the budget year and at the end of the budget year (and thereby reflect the net borrowing requirement of the budget).

b. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the end of the budget year.

c. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the start of the budget year.

d. No, data on the outstanding debt are not presented.

e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:

Comment:
Government debt is reported on after the completion of the fiscal year. The Annual Economic Survey issued by the Central Bank exists and in some way in fairness should also be acknowledged.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The Review of the Economy document speaks to debt, but does so in relation to the previous two years. Specific details for the budget year are not given.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: The Annual Economic Survey for 2006 cannot be used as a supporting budget document for the Executive’s Budget Proposal. It contains information regarding the 2005-2006 annual year and not the fiscal year which is from 1 October to 30 September. This is apparent in the discussion on Central Government Domestic Debt in the 2006 Annual Economic Survey (http://www.central-bank.org.tt/publications/issues/aes1183766541.pdf page 45), where it is stated that: “Central government domestic debt stood at $12,789.9 million (11.1 percent of GDP) at the end of December 2006 from $12,088.4 million (12.7 percent of GDP) at the end of 2005.”

Another reason why documents issued by the Central Bank cannot be used as supporting budget documents for the Executive Budget Proposal is that they mostly contain aggregated information, and not a detailed breakdown of revenue, expenditure and debt. For instance, on page 43 the Annual Economic Survey 2006 does present the total amount of non tax revenue for the 2005-2006 calendar year. However it does not provide any details about the various sources of non tax revenue.

Comment:
Interest payments are projected in the Review of the Economy. In addition to the above documents, the Annual Economic Survey issued by the Central Bank exists and in some way in fairness should also be acknowledged.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Without a clear indication of what the debt for the year is to be, no indication is given as to interests. What is given however in the Draft Estimates of Expenditure for the Financial Year 2008 are estimates of debt servicing.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year?

b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented.

Government debt is usually reported on after the completion of the fiscal year. In addition to the above documents, the Annual Economic Survey issued by the Central Bank exists and in some way in fairness should also be acknowledged.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d” All information given in the Review of the Economy relates to the debt of previous years and even so the amount stated for the year immediately preceding this budget year is a provisional amount

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” because the Review of the Economy 2007 presents the composition of government debt for the 2006-2007 fiscal year that has already ended and not for the upcoming 2007-2008 fiscal year.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The Budget statement also speaks to this, but again this is very general, and lacks details.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
The macroeconomic assumptions in terms of the oil price is the only concrete example of an explicit assumption. In addition, the Annual Economic Survey issued by the Central Bank exists and in some way in fairness should also be acknowledged.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Oil and gas prices are the only real areas in which there is some sensitivity analysis and this is basically in adopting conservative estimates in what prices will be so that revenues from this sector can be estimated. Such states are made in general in the budget statement.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” It is to be noted that Central Bank Reports and macro economic analyses do not form part of the Budget documentation.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “c” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
16. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information for at least the budget year that shows how policy proposals in the budget, as distinct from existing policies, affect expenditures?

   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policy proposals on expenditures, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

Social Sector Investment Program 2008 Monday 20 August 2007

Comment:
The Estimates of Expenditures present functional classification of current account expenditures for the budget year as estimates, the current year- estimated and revised estimates, and for the previous year- actual. Examples of such classifications are: General Public Services, Defense, Public Order and Safety, Education Affairs and Services.
In addition, expenditures are presented under the pillars of Vision 2020 Operational Plan which traces expenditures for various years and the projected budget year under each heading. For example, Expenditures under pillar 1 “Developing Innovative People” are outlined in SISP 2008 for 2006 as actual expenditure, 2007 budgeted and estimated expenditure and 2008 budgeted allocation expenditures.
20. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for the year preceding the budget year (BY-1) that are classified by economic classification?

a. All expenditures are classified by economic classification for BY-1, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
b. All expenditures are classified by economic classification for BY-1, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by economic classification for BY-1.
d. No expenditures classified by economic classification are presented for BY-1.

Comment:
Expenditures that are presented for BY-1 and are classified by economic classification are: personnel expenditure, goods and services, equipment purchases, current transfers and subsidies etc., for which values are identified for the budget year (estimates), the current year (estimated and revised estimates) and the previous year (actual).
In addition expenditures are presented under the pillars of Vision 2020 Operational Plan which traces expenditures for various years and the projected budget year under each heading. For example, Expenditures under pillar 1"Developing Innovative People” are outlined in SISP 2008 for 2006 as actual expenditure, 2007 budgeted and estimated expenditure and 2008 budgeted allocation expenditures.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Access to such information however is dependent upon the personalities making the request as well as the persons receiving the request for information. It can be very subjective, and in that regard, it does not necessarily seem to be available to the public in general. Notwithstanding this there is information and it can be accessed.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d.” This is because based on the OBI Questionnaire’s methodology, a document must be available to any and all members of the general public who requests it to be considered as publicly available for the purposes of this study. A document that is available to only certain individuals or members of the public, while it is refused to others who request it, should not be considered as meeting the conditions for a publicly available document.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” This is not applicable since no formal timetable is released to the public and for that matter, while internal plans may be outlined, there is no fixed notion of when the budget is to be presented. A budget in Trinidad and Tobago can be presented anytime before the start of the Financial year and up to one month into the Budgetary year. In this case with the Budgetary year starting October 1, budgets are normally presented either in the months of September of October. The 2008 budget which was presented on August 20, 2007 was presented with nearly seven weeks before the start of the Budgetary year. It was recorded that this was the first time in 15 years was a Budget presented with so much time before the start of the Financial year

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

Comment:

Consultations with invited interest groups do take place prior to the budget but behind closed doors.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: No formal meetings are required, and there is no timetable for public consultation of with any particular constituencies. This should not however rule out that members of the Executive do in fact, in an adhoc manner with some constituencies (Chamber of Commerce/ Employers Consultative Association etc). Comment:
The proposed Budget/Appropriation Bill must be debated by both the Upper and Lower Houses of Parliament before it is passed. The executive also sits in Parliament (i.e. are members) and lead the debate. However, there is no such system for testimony by the executive or the public. The Public Accounts Committee however, has recently begun to hold hearings with public officials (management).

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The comment about the Public Accounts Committee above is not relevant to the Budgetary process and should be stricken off. There are no legislative committees holding meetings to discuss or receive testimony.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: The reference to the Public Accounts Committee (PAC) in the above comment should be ignored. The PAC is a constitutionally entrenched committee of the legislature and is mandated by section 119(4) of the Constitution to report on the Appropriation Accounts, the Auditor General Report and such other accounts as referred to it by the House of Representatives. The PAC deals solely with details of post-budget expenditure not with policy concerns. There is also a Public Accounts Enterprises Committee (PAEC) which performs the same functions but in respect of State Enterprises.

Comment:
The proposed Budget/Appropriation Bill must be debated by both the Upper and Lower Houses of Parliament before it is passed. The executive also sits in Parliament (i.e. are members) and lead the debate. However, there is no such system for testimony by the executive or the public. The Public Accounts Committee however, has recently begun to hold hearings with public officials (management).

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “e”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” There are no such public hearings by any legislative Committee. Again reference to the Public Accounts Committee in relation to the budgetary process is not in context and should be deleted from the comments above.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.”

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “d” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
77. Does a legislative committee (or committees) hold public hearings on the individual budgets of central government administrative units (that is, ministries, departments, and agencies) in which testimony from the public is heard?

a. Yes, extensive public hearings are held on the budgets of administrative units in which testimony from the public is heard.
b. Yes, hearings are held, covering key administrative units, in which testimony from the public is heard.
c. Yes, a limited number of hearings are held in which testimony from the public is heard.
d. No, public hearings are not held on the budgets of administrative units in which testimony from the public is heard.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

78. Do the legislative committees that hold public hearings release reports to the public on these hearings?

a. Yes, the committees release very informative reports, which include all written testimony presented at the hearings.
b. Yes, the committees release reports, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, the committees release reports, but they are not very informative.
d. No, the committees do not release reports or do not hold public hearings.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

In Trinidad and Tobago, the Public Accounts Committee has the mandate to hold public hearing into government agencies and enterprises. The Auditor General also has jurisdiction to query any document (financial) that is not compatible with the rule and regulations governing the Public Service.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
| 79. | Is the legislature (or the appropriate legislative committee or members of the legislature) given full information for the budget year on the spending of all secret items relating to, for instance, national security and military intelligence?

| a. | Yes, the appropriate legislative committee or members of the legislature is provided extensive information on all spending on secret items, which includes detailed, line item descriptions of all expenditures. |
| b. | No, the legislature is provided information on spending on secret items, but some details are excluded, or some categories are presented in an aggregated manner, or the legislature is provided no information on secret items. |

| 80. | Does the legislature have authority in law to amend the budget presented by the executive?

| a. | Yes, the legislature has unlimited authority in law to amend the budget. |
| b. | Yes, the legislature has authority in law to amend the budget, with some limitations. |
| c. | Yes, the legislature has authority in law to amend the budget, but its authority is very limited. |

Comment:
The Appropriation Bill has to be passed by a simple majority in both houses.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: While the legislature has the authority to amend the budget, the fact remains that the Executive controls an absolute majority in the legislature and as such any such amendment must be supported by the Executive. Amendments are only made when the Executive accepts that there is need for amendment.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: |
81. What is the most detail provided in the appropriation (expenditure budget) approved by the legislature?

a. The approved budget includes program-level detail.
b. The approved budget includes departmental totals and some additional details (for instance, sub-department totals or major programs).
c. The approved budget includes only departmental totals.
d. The approved budget includes less information than departmental totals.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b” Bearing in mind that the budget that is approved by the legislature is approved only with the supplementary documents, such as the Estimates of Expenditure, etc, within such documents one would find additional details and program details.

No in-year reports are released by the executive, however, they do hold several media briefings during the course of the year to inform the public on what is taking place. A mid-year supplemental budget has been presented in recent years. It is possible however to refer to central bank’s economic bulletin for such information.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: In year reports are not released to the public by the Executive. Even in debates in Parliament, particularly when supplemental budgets are being considered, comprehensive reports are still not released, and members of the legislature are called upon to support supplemental budgets without any confirmed reports. It may be noted that actual expenditure is only given two years later.

Comment:
The procurement processes are continual questioned by those in the opposition party. It should be note that this does mean that the current processes are not above board. It signals that there has to greater transparency and accountability during the procurement processes.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Whilst there is a procurement regime in place, the government admits that there is need to replace it. A White Paper was done in 2004 and following national consultations, in 2005 Legislation was drafted to enact a new procurement regime. The Government has however withdrawn such draft legislation and has reopened the review of the existing regime.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Government procurement processes continue to cause serious public concern. Government procurement processes, while relatively open, exclude intergovernmental agreements for goods and services as well as the procurement processes of State-owned enterprises. Proposals for reform enumerated in Governments White Paper on Reform of Public Procurement (see www.finance.gov.tt) are yet to be implemented despite constant public demand from organizations such as the local chapter of Transparency International and the Trinidad and Tobago Contractors Association.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Whenever the executive believes that based on its evolving program of activities that there may be need for a supplemental budget, they will bring the proposal to the legislature. There is no limit as to the amount or timing of such supplemental budgets. In this budgetary year there were two such supplemental budgets. c. Supplemental budget are generally equal to more than 5 percent, but less than 10 percent, of the original budget.

Comment:
The Auditor General's report is the document which provides audit information but not necessarily on a timely basis.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:
The only entity that is authorized to present audited reports on the Executives expenditure is the Auditor General. Reports from this office are laid in Parliament. Such reports, in most instances, relate to expenditures undertaken at least two years prior to the time the report reaches the parliament. It should also be noted that in the Estimates of Expenditure and Estimates of revenues, actual figures are given for two years prior to the budget year (BY-2). This however does not reflect audited figures.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
103. Does the year-end report explain the difference between the enacted levels (including in-year changes approved by the legislature) and the actual outcome for expenditures?

Comment:
The Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure indicate actual as well as originally estimated revenues and expenditures, no explicit explanation is provided however.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The Estimates of Expenditure and Estimates of Revenue give for the BY-1 the estimated Expenditure/Revenue as well as a revised Estimates. Fore the BY-2 it gives the Actual Expenditure/revenue. No explanations are given for any changes.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

104. What level of detail is the focus of the explanation of the differences between the enacted levels and the actual outcome for expenditures presented in the year-end report?

a. The explanation of the differences between the enacted expenditure levels and the actual outcome focuses on the program level.
b. The explanation focuses on departmental totals (or functional totals) or some lower level of detail (but not the program level in all cases).
c. The explanation focuses on a higher level of aggregation than departmental totals (or functional totals).
d. No explanation of the differences is provided, or such a report is not released.

Comment:
The gathering of information for this report occurs prior to the close and after the close of the financial year. After which the report is prepared and then released to the public at a date in the future.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” There seems to be no defined timeframe for auditing of Expenditures.
It is not uncommon for reports of the Auditor General to be laid in Parliament several years reporting on the expenditures of some state agency

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Section 25 of the Exchequer and Audit Act provides for submission of an ‘audit of all accounts related to public monies within a period of seven months after 30 September in each year or such longer period as Parliament may by resolution appoint.’ This however does not apply to audited accounts of State-owned enterprises, municipal corporations, regional health authorities, and other statutory bodies. For example, audited reports for certain Municipal Corporations for the years 2000-2005 were only submitted to Parliament by the Auditor General in September 2008,

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “c” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.

Comment:
The Auditor General is appointed by the President of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago after consultation with the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition and may hold office up to age sixty-five (65) years and may be removed from office only on certain grounds and after a prescribed procedure. Those provisions are entrenched in the Constitution of the Republic of Trinidad and Tobago (1976).

Peer Reviewer One Comment: While the Constitution is silent on the specific removal of the Auditor General from office, it speaks to the Service Commission as being the entity responsible for removing public officers from duty. Provision on the procedures to be followed in relation to removing an Auditor General will be in accordance with the procedures utilized by the Service Commissions in removing an officer from office. Neither the legislature nor the Judiciary is required or engaged in such procedures.

Section 25(4) of the Exchequer and Audit Act, Chapter 69:01 gives the Auditor General the mandate to prepare and submit to Parliament a special report on any matter. This section is reproduced below:

25(4) “The Auditor General may at any time if it appears to him desirable transmit a special report to the Minister for presentation in like manner to Parliament. Such special report may be made on any matter incidental to his powers and duties under this Act.”

 Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b” Limitations relate to resources. The SAI (i.e. Auditor General) is currently 30 percent understaffed. Governmental agencies have been known to access private auditors whose audit reports are transmitted directly to the Minister thereby by-passing the SAI.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
117. Who determines the budget of the Supreme Audit Institution?

a. The budget of the SAI is determined by the legislature or judiciary (or some independent body), and the funding level is broadly consistent with the resources the SAI needs to fulfill its mandate.
b. The budget of the SAI is determined by the executive, and the funding level is broadly consistent with the resources the SAI needs to fulfill its mandate.
c. The budget of the SAI is determined by the legislature or judiciary (or some independent body), but the funding level is not consistent with the resources the SAI needs to fulfill its mandate.
d. The budget of the SAI is determined by the executive, but the funding level is not consistent with the resources the SAI needs to fulfill its mandate.

Comment:
Our Supreme Audit Institution in the Auditor General who is part of the Ministry of Finance. Each ministry and government agency has an accounting and internal audit section who follow the rules and regulations set by the Public Service. It is the mandate of internal audit to oversee the auditing function for the internal departments in their respective ministry. They in turn report to the head of there Ministry the Permanent Secretary (PS). The PS must meet with the Auditor General after which the PS allows the external auditors i.e the Office of the Auditor General to conduct an audit of the financial records for that year. Upon completion the Auditor General meets with the PS to discuss the findings.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” The SAI is not part of the Ministry of Finance. It is a constitutionally entrenched independent body according to section 116 of the constitution. Its budgetary allocation is negotiated between the Auditor General and the Minister of Finance. The functions of the Auditor General should not be confused with the functions of the internal audit section that resides in each Ministry and is accountable to the Permanent Secretary of that Ministry.
118. Does the Supreme Audit Institution employ designated staff for undertaking audits of the central government agencies pertaining to the security sector (military, police, intelligence services)?

a. The SAI employs designated staff, and the staffing levels are broadly consistent with the resources the SAI needs to fulfill its mandate.
b. The SAI employs designated staff, but the staffing levels are a cause of some constraints to the SAI in fulfilling its mandate.
c. The SAI employs designated staff, but the staffing levels pose a significant constraint on the SAI in fulfilling its mandate.
d. The SAI does not employ designated staff for auditing of the security sector, or does not undertake audits of the security sector.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: In the Estimates of Expenditure, Head 02 refers to the Auditor General. The Details of the establishment are given therein (pages 7-8) Based on this fixed establishment, it is assumed that the required staff is employed. Should the Auditor General require additional staff, a case must be made, and defended at the Director of Personnel Administration. If this is successfully defended, then the Chief Personnel Office will have to identify funding and only after this is done then the Service Commissions can recruit the required staff. This long drawn out process could ensure inadequate staffing at times. In any event when a vacancy arises, the Service Commission is brought into the picture to fill that post and this can be time consuming and fraught with bureaucratic concerns.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer ‘b’ to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
119. Does the Supreme Audit Institution maintain formal mechanisms of communication with the public to receive complaints and suggestions to assist it in determining its audit program (that is, to identify the agencies, programs, or projects it will audit)?

a. Yes, the SAI maintains mechanisms of communication with the public, and received more than 100 communications from the public during the past year.
b. Yes, the SAI maintains mechanisms of communication with the public, and received less than 100 but more than ten communications from the public during the past year.
c. Yes, the SAI maintains mechanisms of communication with the public but it receives very little (less than ten) or no information from the public on potential subjects for audit.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: All reports coming from the Auditor general are laid in the Parliament, and according to the Constitution are to be considered by the Public Accounts Committee of the Parliament and report to the house of Representatives. While all reports may be viewed, the scrutiny it deserves may not necessarily be given depending on the work and attendance of members of the Committee. Many times Committee meetings are adjourned due to a lack of a quorum.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The Public Accounts Committee is a part-time committee and therefore is subject to limitations and constraints in the performance of its mandate to scrutinize all audit reports.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
