Peer Reviewer One Comment: Only in the pre-budget report.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: As mentioned by the peer reviewer, this information is available only in the pre-budget report; therefore the most appropriate answer to this question is “b.”
6. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, is more detail than just the aggregate level presented for expenditure estimates that cover a multi-year period (for at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year expenditure estimates are presented for all individual programs, and for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative).
   b. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented for one or more expenditure classification (such as functional, economic, or administrative), but only for some individual programs.
   c. Yes, multi-year estimates are presented, but only for a portion of one or more of the expenditure classifications (such as some functions, or some administrative units) and/or for only some individual programs.
   d. No, multi-year estimates are presented for aggregate expenditure only, or they are not presented at all.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Starting from the 2006 multi year budgeting has been put into practice.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” as for peer reviewer comment.
7. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation identify the different sources of tax revenue (such as income tax or VAT) for the budget year?

   a. All sources of tax revenue are identified individually.
   b. Sources of tax revenue amounting to at least two-thirds of, but not all, tax revenues are identified individually.
   c. Sources of tax revenue amounting to less than two-thirds of all tax revenues are identified individually.

   Comment:
   Researcher’s Response to this Question was “c”

   Peer Reviewer One Comment:

   Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The researchers must have referred to annual economic report 2006 as a reference to their assessment. Annual economic report presents the data in a more aggregated format for presentation purposes. However, the revenue schedules annexed to the executive’s budget proposal displays the detailed non-tax revenues. Only very small portion of non-tax revenues which go unclassified.

   IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b,” consistent with the peer reviewer’s comment.

9. In the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation, are estimates of the aggregate level of revenue presented for a multi-year period (at least two years beyond the budget year)?

   a. Yes, multi-year estimates of aggregate revenue are presented.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Since 2006 multi-year estimates of detailed revenues are presented in the context of multi-year budgeting. The revenue schedules annexed to the executive’s budget proposal displays the details. See schedule B annexed to draft budget page 87 to 98.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” consistent with the peer reviewers comment.
11. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present data on the total government debt outstanding for the budget year?

   a. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt both at the start of the budget year and at the end of the budget year (and thereby reflect the net borrowing requirement of the budget).
   b. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the end of the budget year.
   c. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the start of the budget year.
   d. No, data on the outstanding debt are not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The cited document is not accessible. Even if the document was accessible, this would be a press release rather than the debt management report itself.

Peer Review Two Comment: The Treasury’s Debt Management Report presented to parliament does not normally contain any estimate for the budget year. It presents the currently available debt stock, for example, which might have been available on August 2007. The Debt Management Report has been recognized in Code 5018 as a supporting budget document to the executive’s proposal even if its publication date does not correspond exactly with the date the executive’s budget is tabled. It is generally available for public and parliamentary scrutiny and discussion during the time the budget proposal is considered in parliament and before the budget is subject to final approval by the legislature.
12. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present interest payments on the debt for the budget year?

   a. Yes, interest payments on the debt are presented.
   b. No, interest payments on the debt are not presented.
   c. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The cited document is not accessible. Even if the document was accessible, this would be a press release rather than the debt management report itself.

Peer Review Two Comment: Researcher’s assessments are true. Because the interest payments are part of the budget. They are naturally included in the executive’s budget proposal.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” consistent with peer reviewer two’s observation.
13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year?

a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented.
b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some additional information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, additional information related to the composition of government debt is not presented.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The cited document is not accessible. Even if the document was accessible, this would be a press release rather than the debt management report itself. Pre-budget report does not contain any debt data.

Peer Review Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” There is information on the current stock of debt as described above, but not details for the upcoming budget year 2007, (with the exception of estimated interest payments).

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based?

   a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly.
   b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented.

15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Review Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The Budget Preamble of the executive’s budget proposal provides this information, classified by economic classification. See also the explanation for question 3.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries. The Budget Preamble is the relevant document.

Comment:

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Because the ministry of finance updated the previous years’ budget figures in line with the new budget classification system with more detail. That can be seen at pages 27-31 budget preamble. Please also note that the annual economic report displays the data in more aggregated form than the budget preamble which is a part of executive budget proposal as supporting document.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: I agree with answer “b.”
The cited link is not accessible. Alternative link:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Since there is a linkage problem between medium term program and medium term fiscal plan, it is not possible to identify clearly the links between policy goals with the budgets of the institutions.

IBP Comment: the document cited by the researcher and the peer reviewer was released in June 2006 (date June 6, 2006) therefore cannot be used to respond to this question. A more appropriate answer would be “c.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Starting from 2007 some attempts have been made to implement performance base budgeting is still in transition on pilot basis. Based on this reasoning appropriate answer would be “d” because no performance indicator is presented in the executive budget proposal and other supporting budget documents.
55. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information on policies (both proposals and existing commitments) in at least the budget year that are intended to benefit directly the country’s most impoverished populations?

a. Yes, extensive information on policies intended to alleviate poverty is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of key policies intended to alleviate poverty, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information on policies intended to alleviate poverty is not presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: Information in cited document/link is prepared for training of ministry staff. There is no public-oriented information that will facilitate understanding or the budgetary process by the public.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” No glossary is provided. Researchers’ citation is the website of Budget Directorate in which we detected no glossary or similar information to that effect. The link for frequently asked questions dose not also provide any non-technical definitions.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries. No glossary was found in the website cited by the researcher.
63. Do citizens have the right in law to access government information, including budget information?

   a. Yes, the right has been codified into law, and citizens are generally able in practice to obtain government information, including budget information.
   b. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is sometimes not possible for citizens in practice to obtain government information, including budget information.
   c. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is frequently or always impossible in practice to obtain access to government information, including budget information.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “d.” The legislative scrutiny in the cited document concerns assembly debate on the proposed budget in general and at department levels. There are no hearings (or testimonies) specific to the macroeconomic/fiscal framework.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The public and non-governmental organizations can participate with the consent of head of the budget commission to listen to the hearings in the committee, but they are not allowed to make statements. The press is accredited. Hearings are broadcasted on TV. The public is free to attend the budget debate at the General Assembly, but again, are not allowed to make statements.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
76. Do legislative committees hold public hearings on the individual budgets of central government administrative units (that is, ministries, departments, and agencies) in which testimony from the executive branch is heard?

a. Yes, extensive public hearings are held on the budgets of administrative units in which testimony from the executive branch is heard.

b. Yes, hearings are held, covering key administrative units, in which testimony from the executive branch is heard.

c. Yes, a limited number of hearings are held in which testimony from the executive branch is heard.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” The process is as follows: the Budget Committee of the legislature has the authority to amend the budget. However, when the final draft is submitted to the General Assembly no amendments which lead to an increase in the budget deficit are allowed. This is as required by the Constitution. The answer “a” is correct in the sense that legislature as a whole (including the committee) has the right to amend the budget.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries/ The General Assembly has the power to amend the budget, but with a constraint, which is that of not increasing the budget deficit. This is a limitation which supports answer “b” as the most appropriate.
81. What is the most detail provided in the appropriation (expenditure budget) approved by the legislature?

a. The approved budget includes program-level detail.
b. The approved budget includes departmental totals and some additional details (for instance, sub-department totals or major programs).

d. The approved budget includes less information than departmental totals.

Comment:

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “a.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The in-year reports do not contain program-level data because programs are not defined in the first place.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “e.” With the introduction of new analytical budget classification only economic and functional classifications of expenditures by administrative units (not by departmental details) are provided. Program budget classification is not applicable. There has been no reporting by program level.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “b” to maintain consistency in the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
85. Do the in-year reports released to the public compare actual year-to-date expenditure with either the original estimate for that period (based on the enacted budget) or the same period in the previous year?

a. Yes, comparisons are made for all expenditures.
b. Yes, comparisons are made for at least two-thirds, but not all, of expenditures.
c. Yes, but comparisons are made for less than two-thirds of expenditures.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Recent practice indicated that some important revenue collections of big magnitude (such as some form of privatization revenues) are concealed under the title of “other revenues of other” especially for the non-tax revenues. This poses a risk for transparency.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: In 2005, when the old State Accounting Law was in effective, shifting funds between administrative units required parliamentary approval. Peer Reviewer Two Comment: Since 2005, due to the IMF program deviations of the actual outcomes from the budgeted appropriations have been very minimal. However, the years between 1995-2004 these deviations have been around 10 percent. However, we have decided to accept researchers’ response. We would like to draw your attention that the government has resorted to payment arrear system whereby it did not record the liabilities of the government that should have been actually recorded as expenditures and delayed them for the coming budget years. This has now created a greater risk in terms of fiscal transparency.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Researchers’ reference to final accounts bill as a source for year end report is in error. Final accounts bill explain the outcome of the budget year for TCA to produce its audit report. But according to the definition of the IBP Guideline year end report should be in form of either a single report or a series of report of individual ministries. Since the start of 2006 both ministry of finance produces a general activity report and individual ministries produce their own activity reports which cover budgetary developments and other activities. We have based our grading according to the general activity report published by the ministry of finance. This report for the budget year 2007 was published in June 2008. We believe that this report resembles to the year end report as defined in the guideline.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries. The document cited by Peer Reviewer Two was issued after September 28, 2007.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The Turkish Court of Accounts (TCA) performs audits on less than 2/3 of the accounts and appropriations on a compliance basis. However, they issue a statement of conformity to the parliament that the use of appropriations stated in the Final Accounts Bill prepared by the Ministry of Finance are in line with the accounts of the state accountants given to the TCA. We view the appropriate response as “e” because the general statement of conformity does not cover all actual outcomes.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” This can be confirmed from the Turkish Court of Accounts information leaflet below. http://www.sayistay.gov.tr/tc/145_Yil_Brosur_TR.pdf

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Article 7 of TCA Law stipulates that unless there is a criminal offense by head of SAI is committed he/she can not be removed from the office. This effectively means that only judiciary can rule if such offense is committed and only after then the presidency of the head of SAI can automatically end. So the answer would be “a” with the difference that instead of parliament the verdict of judiciary is required for him to be removed from the office.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “a” as for peer reviewers’ comments and citation.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” Although less than $2/3$ of expenditures are audited by TCA (Turkish SAI). This is largely due to lack of planning and staffing rather than the budgetary resources. And also method of auditing is based on compliance audit which requires the audit of individual documents which are almost impossible to be done on hundred percent basis.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “c” to maintain consistency with the criteria used for selecting answers across countries.
118. Does the Supreme Audit Institution employ designated staff for undertaking audits of the central government agencies pertaining to the security sector (military, police, intelligence services)?

a. The SAI employs designated staff, and the staffing levels are broadly consistent with the resources the SAI needs to fulfill its mandate.
b. The SAI employs designated staff, but the staffing levels are a cause of some constraints to the SAI in fulfilling its mandate.
c. The SAI employs designated staff, but the staffing levels pose a significant constraint on the SAI in fulfilling its mandate.
d. The SAI does not employ designated staff for auditing of the security sector, or does not undertake audits of the security sector.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: We agree with the response as “c.” But the citation is wrong. Because TCA Law does not have any rule about designation of staff in this manner. Practice is determined by tradition.

119. Does the Supreme Audit Institution maintain formal mechanisms of communication with the public to receive complaints and suggestions to assist it in determining its audit program (that is, to identify the agencies, programs, or projects it will audit)?

a. Yes, the SAI maintains mechanisms of communication with the public, and received more than 100 communications from the public during the past year.
b. Yes, the SAI maintains mechanisms of communication with the public, and received less than 100 but more than ten communications from the public during the past year.
c. Yes, the SAI maintains mechanisms of communication with the public but it receives very little (less than ten) or no information from the public on potential subjects for audit.
d. No, the SAI does not maintain any formal mechanisms of communication with the public.
e. Not applicable.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment: The audit reports, however, can be debated in the Parliament if there is a motion/request by a party with a group in the Parliament.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” The parliament is required to view and scrutinize the statement of conformity and treasury audit report. The other reports are optional.
