   a. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, and the categorization is compatible with international standards.
   b. All expenditures are classified by economic classification, but the categorization is not compatible with international standards.
   c. Some, but not all, expenditures are classified by economic classification.

These Appendices are available on the Internet at http://www.kmu.gov.ua/control/publish/article?art_id=4791062

Comment:
All expenditures are classified into three large groups. Expenditures on grants, subsidies and acquisition of non-financial assets are not presented separately.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: According to Budget Code (Articles 8-10) all expenditures should be classified by administrative unit, functional and economic codes. “Short economic classification” is developed by the Ministry of Finance (available at http://zakon1.rada.gov.ua/cgi-bin/laws/main.cgi?nreg=z0086-02). Appendices 3 and 4 include administrative and functional classification codes. No economic classification codes are found, though all expenditures are divided into three large groups that could arguably represent some economic classification. Expenditures in any appendix are not marked with the required codes to identify their economic classification.
4. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present expenditures for individual programs for the budget year?

   a. Program-level data are presented for all expenditures.
   b. Program-level data are presented for at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
   c. Program-level data are presented, but for less than two-thirds of expenditures.
   d. No program-level data are presented.

Citation:
The information is presented in the Supporting budget documentation (Cabinet Resolution N 1359 "On a forecast of the consolidated budget of Ukraine indicators by the main types of revenues, expenditures and financing sources for 2008-2010")

Comment:
The revenue estimates for 2008-2010 are disaggregated for tax and non-tax sources of revenue.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” The supporting document, Cabinet resolution # 1359 "On a forecast of the consolidated budget of Ukraine indicators by the main types of revenues, expenditures and financing sources for 2008-2010,” 25 September, 2006 http://zakon1.rada.gov.ua/cgi-bin/laws/main.cgi?nreg=1359-2006-%EF describes the situation 2 years beyond the budget year and contains information about revenues and sources of revenue. Non-tax revenue has no individual sources in the Cabinet resolution, so not all individual sources are presented. In fact, one may even argue that a more appropriate response to this question should be “a.”
11. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present data on the total government debt outstanding for the budget year?

   a. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt both at the start of the budget year and at the end of the budget year (and thereby reflect the net borrowing requirement of the budget).

   b. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the end of the budget year.

   c. Yes, the data reflect the outstanding debt at the start of the budget year.

   d. No, data on the outstanding debt are not presented.

13. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present information related to the composition of government debt (such as interest rates on the debt, maturity profile of the debt, currency denomination of the debt, or whether it is domestic and external debt) for the budget year?

   a. Yes, extensive information related to the composition of government debt is presented.
   b. Yes, key additional information is presented, but some details are excluded.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

14. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation present the macroeconomic forecast upon which the budget projections are based?

   a. Yes, an extensive discussion of the macroeconomic forecast is presented, and key assumptions (such as inflation, real GDP growth, unemployment rate, and interest rates) are stated explicitly.
   b. Yes, the macroeconomic forecast is discussed and most of the key assumptions are stated explicitly, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, there is some discussion of the macroeconomic forecast (and/or the presentation of key assumptions), but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information related to the macroeconomic forecast is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:
The discussion of the macroeconomic forecast for the budget year is found in the Budget Summary (in all three documents listed, but especially, in the third one). Also an extensive macroeconomic analysis is presented in Appendix 13.

Comment:
Interest rates are not presented, but other relevant information is presented.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:
15. Does the executive’s budget or any supporting budget documentation show the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions (i.e., sensitivity analysis) on the budget (including expenditures, revenues, and debt)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on the impact of macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
   b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the impact of the major macroeconomic assumptions, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on the impact of different macroeconomic assumptions on the budget is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

   Citation:
   See appendix 13.

   Comment:
   The executive presents two scenarios of economic development in 2007: a pessimistic and optimistic one. The discussion of key assumptions and risks is very short, however.

Citation:

Comment: No information on financial assets held by the government is presented.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “d.”

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “c.” Some information about financial assets held by government is implicitly presented in Appendix 1: http://www.kmu.gov.ua/document/51383586/doc_93285.doc But important details and description are missing.

Researcher Response: I chose to keep my answer “d” because information on financial assets is not presented. Appendix 1 provides information only on dividends and proceeds the Government collects from the state-owned enterprises.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer, “d” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries. Such information should be explicitly presented.

Additional Key Information for Budget Analysis & Monitoring

Please note that the questions in this section ask about information that is generally available to the public. The information need not be included in the executive’s budget proposal or supporting documents, but may be found in other documents issued by the executive.

56. Does the executive make available to the public a description of the tax rate or fee schedule for all revenue sources, including commercial projects involving the private sector?

a. Yes, extensive information on tax rates, fees, royalties and other revenues sources is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, information is presented, highlighting the rates and fees for major revenue sources, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No, information is not presented.

a. Yes, a detailed analysis of the distribution of the tax burden is presented, including both a narrative discussion and quantitative estimates.
b. Yes, an analysis is presented, highlighting key aspects of the distribution, but some details are excluded.
c. Yes, some analysis is presented, but it lacks important details.
d. No analysis on the distribution of the tax burden is presented.
e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Comment:
The analysis of tax burden distribution is not presented.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: In my opinion, a more appropriate response to this question could be “c” or even “d.” The extensive quantitative estimates and explanations on various taxes are presented in the Appendix 14. However, following the Guide and Public Economics Theory, this can be hardly called the analysis of the DISTRIBUTION of the tax burden.

58. Does the executive make available to the public an explanation of the conditions associated with assistance from international financial institutions (IFI)?

   a. Yes, extensive information on conditions associated with IFI assistance is presented, including a narrative discussion and any quantitative targets related to both macro-economic conditionality and project-specific conditionality.
   b. Yes, information is presented, but some details are excluded.
   c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.
   d. No, information on conditions associated with IFI assistance is not presented.
   e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:
http://me.kmu.gov.ua/control/uk/publish/category/main?cat_id=96548

Comment:
Some information on foreign assistance is provided by the Ministry of Economy.

Peer Reviewer One Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “b.” Conditions of IFI’s assistance is not widely shared among public BY THE EXECUTIVE. If the question asks about general availability of this information, then the answer “a” might correct. However, it usually lacks narrative discussion and details about specific targets of the assistance. E.g. “TB and HIV/AIDS Control Project” (which is a loan of the Government of Ukraine from the World Bank) http://moz.gov.ua/en/main/interact/worldbank/?docID=1745 does not have any specific information about targets, work plan and expected results. There is no link to the WB’s website which contains e-version of the loan agreement and other information.

Peer Reviewer Two Comment:

IBP Comment: IBP editors agree on answer “b” to maintain consistency with the guidance provided to researchers for correctly completing the questionnaire in the Guide to the Open Budget Questionnaire. Even though the relevant information need not be provided directly by the executive, it appears that the information provided by the World Bank is still insufficient to merit an “a” response.
59. Does the executive make available to the public an explanation of the conditions associated with assistance from donor countries?

a. Yes, extensive information on conditions associated with donor country assistance is presented, including a narrative discussion and any quantitative targets related to both macro-economic conditionality and project-specific conditionality.

b. Yes, information is presented, but some details are excluded.

c. Yes, some information is presented, but it lacks important details.

d. No, information on conditions associated with donor country assistance is not presented.

e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

Citation:
http://www.me.gov.ua/control/uk/publish/category/main?cat_id=45451

Comment:
Information on the donor initiated projects is presented by the executive (in particular, the Ministry of Economy), however, not much details on the conditions of such assistance is provided.

Peer Reviewer One Comment

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” The reports present various aspects of assistance. All reports are available to the public free of charge at the Ministry of Economy's website http://www.me.gov.ua/control/uk/publish/category/main?cat_id=45451

Researcher Response: I changed by answer to “b,” because conditions of assistance are not explicitly presented. To some extent this question is not applicable to Ukraine: very few donor countries have explicit conditions under which they provide assistance.

1) IMF and WB loans are quite rare now – and they are not as large as in the 90-s. Macroeconomic policy in Ukraine is quite prudent (used to be until recently), so the WB does not impose much (if any) conditionality on the Govt.

2) Technical aid is usually given without any policy-related conditionality – the one requirement is specificity, i.e. the donor stipulates what the money can be spent on.

3) The Ministry of Economy has a list of all projects and loans with the titles and beneficiaries (the link is provided). Specific project funding numbers are not listed, but they (and other detailed information) could be found on WB and EBRD websites (however, often in English only, e.g. http://web.worldbank.org/external/default/main?menuPK=455719&pagePK=141143&piPK=141103&theSitePK=455681). So, the answer is somewhere between “b” and “c.” I have talked to people who work in donor agencies (e.g. UNDP), and they tend to say “b.” I also put “b,” because, in my opinion, the government does not have intention to be secretive about the issue of conditionality. Also, recently, the ministry of economy made an attempt to improve the classification and the registry of all aid projects.
60. Does the executive make available to the public a summary that describes the budget and its proposals?

- a. Yes, it provides a summary that is very informative.
- b. Yes, it provides a summary that is somewhat informative.
- c. Yes, but the summary is not very informative.
- d. No, it does not provide a summary.
- e. Not applicable/other (please comment).

61. Does the executive publish a “citizens budget” or some non-technical presentation intended for a wide audience that describes the budget and its proposals?

a. Yes, it publishes a citizens budget that is very informative.

The citizens budget is very informative and provides information that is not even available in the executive proposal package, like, for example, non-financial targets for various programs. The citizens budget is not prepared regularly. The one for 2007 became available on the Internet on the 27th of October 2006, approximately one month later the executive proposal. However, it is not a regularly issued document.

- c. Yes, the right has been codified into law, but it is frequently or always impossible in practice to obtain access to government information, including budget information.

There is a law, giving a right for citizens to access government information. The Government is obliged to respond to the public enquiries. However, sometimes citizens and even researchers face difficulties obtaining needed information.

Researcher’s Response to this Question was “b.”

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be “a.” According to the paragraph 28 of Budget Code of Ukraine the information about budget and budget process should be available to the public (in addition it is published in the government media):
http://zakon1.rada.gov.ua/cgi-bin/laws/main.cgi?page=1&nreg=2542-14

Researcher Response: I chose to keep my answer “b” because there are instances when official requests for information sent to the Ministry of Finance are not replied to or rejected without sufficient explanation.…

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer “b” to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
64. Are citizens able in practice to obtain financial information on expenditures for individual programs in a format that is more highly disaggregated than that which appears in the executive’s budget proposal if they request it (for example, from a ministry or agency)?

- a. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for all programs except those considered related to national security or military intelligence.
- b. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for programs representing at least two-thirds of, but not all, expenditures.
- c. In practice, highly disaggregated information is available to the public for programs representing less than two-thirds of expenditures.

According to the Budget Code (p. 54) the executives are not allowed to shift funds without legislature approval: http://zakon.rada.gov.ua/cgi-bin/laws/main.cgi?page=3&nreg=2542-14. The shifts between programs is done only after the approval of the budgetary parliamentary committee. However, as the Accounting chamber noted in its Report (see citation), sometimes the executive shifts funds without prior notification (usually within one administrative unit). Such misuse accounted for 11% of all misuse in 2006 as recorded by the Accounting chamber (chapter 13.2).

As the report on Chamber activities indicates, such reports are prepared and sent to the relevant legislature representatives/committees. The level of detail is unknown, however.

Peer Reviewer One Comment:

Peer Reviewer Two Comment: A more appropriate response to this question would be either “a” or “d” depending on whether the regularity of such reports is important. The report on the Account Chamber’s activities contains the information about reports related to the security sector and other secret programs: http://www.ac-rada.gov.ua/achamber/control/uk/publish/article/main?art_id=607622&cat_id=447 However, such audits seem to be non-systematic and cover several recent years. At the same time, the website of the Ministry of Defense contains quite disaggregated figures on the 2005 and 2006 Budget implementation by this Ministry. http://www.mil.gov.ua/index.php?part=budget_army&lang=ua But it is not clear who conducted these reports.

Researcher Response: I chose my answer “b” because the reports of the Ministry of Defense and of the Chamber are either brief or cover a certain aspect of the military activities.

IBP Comment: IBP editors chose answer ‘b’ to maintain the consistency of the assumptions used in selecting answers across the countries.
