The Government of El Salvador provides the public with limited budget information. El Salvador’s score of 53 out of 100 is moderately higher than the global average score of 45.

Drawing on internationally accepted criteria developed by multilateral organizations, the Open Budget Survey uses 109 indicators to measure budget transparency. These indicators are used to assess whether the central government makes eight key budget documents available to the public in a timely manner and whether the data contained in these documents are comprehensive and useful.

Each country is given a score out of 100 which determines its ranking on the Open Budget Index – the world’s only independent and comparative measure of budget transparency.

El Salvador’s score of 53 on the 2015 Open Budget Index is 10 points higher than its score in 2012.

Since 2012, the Government of El Salvador has increased the availability of budget information by:
- Publishing the Pre-Budget Statement and the Audit Report.
- Improving the comprehensiveness of the Executive’s Budget Proposal.

However, the Government of El Salvador has failed to make progress in the following ways:
- Publishing a Pre-Budget Statement, Citizens Budget, and Audit Report that only contain minimal budget information.

Evidence suggests that transparency alone is insufficient for improving governance, and that public participation in budgeting can maximize the positive outcomes associated with greater budget transparency.

To measure public participation, the Open Budget Survey assesses the degree to which the government provides opportunities for the public to engage in budget processes. Such opportunities should be provided throughout the budget cycle by the executive, the legislature, and the supreme audit institution.

Regional Comparison

El Salvador’s score of 17 out of 100 indicates that the provision of opportunities for the public to engage in the budget process is weak. This is lower than the global average score of 25.

1 According to data as of May 2015 from the Open Budget Survey Tracker (www.obstracker.org), El Salvador failed to publish the 2015 Pre-Budget Statement in a timely manner.
Budget Oversight

The Open Budget Survey examines the extent to which legislatures and supreme audit institutions are able to provide effective oversight of the budget. These institutions play a critical role – often enshrined in national constitutions – in planning budgets and overseeing their implementation.

Oversight by the Legislature

The legislature provides adequate oversight during the planning stage of the budget cycle and adequate oversight during the implementation stage of the budget cycle. However, a pre-budget debate by the legislature does not take place, regular consultations on budget matters between the executive and the legislature do not take place, and the legislature does not hold public meetings to review Audit Reports.

Oversight by the Supreme Audit Institution

The supreme audit institution provides adequate budget oversight. Under the law, the supreme audit institution has full discretion to undertake audits as it sees fit. Moreover, the head of the supreme audit institution cannot be removed without legislative or judicial approval, which bolsters its independence. Finally, the supreme audit institution is provided with sufficient resources to fulfill its mandate but has a limited quality assurance system in place and does not publish the results of these assessments.

Recommendations

Improving Transparency

El Salvador should prioritize the following actions to improve budget transparency:

- Modify the Ley de Acesso de Informacion Publica 2011 to ensure that the Mid-Year Review includes an updated macroeconomic forecast and a projection of its effect on the remaining six months of the fiscal year.
- Increase the comprehensiveness of the Executive’s Budget Proposal by presenting more information on the classification of expenditures for future years and the classification of revenues for future years.
- Increase the comprehensiveness of the Year-End Report by presenting more information on planned versus actual macroeconomic forecasts and on planned versus actual performance.
- Undertake timely publication of Audit Reports with useful and accessible information, according to the Access to Information Law.

Improving Participation

El Salvador should prioritize the following actions to improve budget participation:

- Establish credible and effective mechanisms (i.e., public hearings, surveys, focus groups) for capturing a range of public perspectives during the formulation of the budget.
- Hold legislative hearings on the budgets of specific ministries, departments, and agencies (as well as on Audit Reports) at which testimony from the public is heard.
- Establish formal mechanisms for the public to participate in audit investigations.
- Promote the existence and usefulness of the Citizens Budget.

Improving Oversight

El Salvador should prioritize the following actions to strengthen budget oversight:

- Ensure the legislature holds a pre-budget debate and the outcome is reflected in the Enacted Budget.
The Open Budget Survey uses internationally accepted criteria developed by multilateral organizations such as the International Monetary Fund (IMF), the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), and the International Organisation of Supreme Audit Institutions (INTOSAI). It is a fact-based research instrument that assesses what occurs in practice through readily observable phenomena. The entire research process took approximately 18 months between March 2014 and September 2015 and involved about 300 experts in 102 countries. The Survey was revised somewhat from the 2012 version to reflect emerging developments in accepted good practice and to strengthen individual questions. A full discussion of these changes can be found in a technical note on the comparability of the Open Budget Index over time (see below).

Survey responses are typically supported by citations and comments. This may include a reference to a public document, an official statement by the government, or comments from a face-to-face interview with a government official or other knowledgeable party.

The Survey is compiled from a questionnaire completed for each country by independent budget experts who are not associated with the national government. Each country’s questionnaire is then independently reviewed by an anonymous expert who also has no association to government. In addition, IBP invites national governments to comment on the draft results from the Survey and considers these comments before finalizing the Survey results.

The Government of El Salvador provided comments on the draft Open Budget Questionnaire results.
