Researcher response: The methodology of the OBS states that the Executive’s Budget Proposal must be published before the budget is enacted for it to be considered publicly available. For cross country comparison, the OBS does not take the national laws into account. As the 2016/17 budget was passed in May, before the start of the fiscal year (1 July 2016), this answer is E, as the EBP is publicly available.

Opinion: Disagree
Suggested answer: a.
Comments: Article 125 of Egyptian Constitution require that the government should publish the YER no later than 6 months after the budget year, which is expected to be the YER FY 2015/16, which is not delivered at all till the moment. While OBS methodology suggests that YER should be available to the public in no later than 12 months after the end of the budget year, which is here supposed to be the YER of FY 2014/15, which is not produced till the moment, and the latest available report belongs to 2013/14, so I assume that answer a: “Produced but made available online to the public too late (published after the acceptable time frame)” is the applicable answer.

Government Reviewer
Opinion: Agree
Researcher response: The OBS methodology says that we must use the most recently published document; and if the document is not published then we must use the version of the document that has the most recently passed deadline. For the OBS 2017, this means that we should use the YER for FY 2014/15, which was produced for internal use only.

Opinion: Agree with Comments
Comments: Both End-Year reports for FY 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 were produced and published in hard copies and sent to parliament on time due to constitutional mandates. Yet due to the political circumstances, and long transitional period, in addition to the delay in parliament discussions in specialized sub-committees, both 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 were delayed. Moreover, Ministry of Finance is working on publishing them, (based on what we learned from the IBP workshop in Seoul), while stating that they are preliminary versions until being passed and approved by parliament.

Researcher response: I would like to thank the government for their comment. And I would like to confirm their comment that for political reasons in Egypt was the main reason for not having the YER produced and published but for the public.

- Comments: Yes, the Year-End Report presents individual sources of revenue accounting for all revenue. Although the year end reports for both 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 was not published on the MoF website yet, it was released in hard copies format to the parliament due to constitutional mandates on due dates long before December 2016. As such, and due to the political circumstances and transitional period, in addition to the delay in parliament discussions in specialized sub-committees, both 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 were delayed, yet based on what we learned from the IBP workshop in Seoul, we are working on publishing them while stating that they are preliminary versions until being passed and approved by parliament. Moreover it worthy to mention that the MoF published a draft copy of 14/15 and working on releasing 15/16 year end reports as soon as it gets approved by the parliament.
