Comments: Researcher: In 27 October 2016, The Emir H H Sheikh Tamim bin Hamad Al Thani issued Law No. 11 of 2016 on State Audit Bureau The law on State Audit Bureau enhances financial, administrative and functional independence of the Bureau and stipulates that it will directly report to Emir. It aims to ensure accountability in line with Qatar's current comprehensive development. The previous State Audit Bureau Law took effect in 1995 and the development witnessing the country required a new law in line with Qatar National Vision 2030. The law is applicable to all ministries and government entities whose budget comes from the government with the exception of the ministries of defense and interior and other military and security entities. The audit monitoring is limited to the extent of funding they receive from the government. The law has also exempted companies and institutions fully owned by the government or by a legal public personality as well as companies in which the government has a share of not less than 51 percent, public benefit institutions and accounts and finance of retirement funds. In general, the audit is limited to private companies and institutions run with government funding. The law aims to enhance monitoring and supervision of public money. It authorizes the bureau to publish its report after removing confidential parts, in accordance with Lima Declarations and aims to increase transparency. The bureau will have the right to use appropriate mechanism for auditing. The organizational structure of the Bureau will be set by an Emir decision. The Bureau chairman will be of the rank of a minister and will be appointed by an Emiri decree and is answerable to the Emir.
